

Memorandum 70-16

Subject: Study 36.202 - Condemnation (Condemnation by Special Districts)

BACKGROUND

In preparing a comprehensive eminent domain statute, it will be necessary to repeal Sections 1238 through 1238.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure. These sections purport to specify the public uses in behalf of which the right of eminent domain may be exercised.

Before Sections 1238 through 1238.7 can be repealed, it is necessary to review the present condemnation authority of the myriad of special districts existing in California and to determine what statutory modifications will be required to preserve the status quo.

Attached to this memorandum are three tables. Table I ("Types of Special Districts, Class, and Approximate Number") lists in alphabetical order all the various types of special districts that the staff believes exist in California. The table indicates the "Class" of district and the approximate number of districts. Table II (on legal size paper) lists the majority of the various types of special districts by "Class" and indicates the functions and extent of the district condemnation authority. (Table IIA is referred to below.)

TABLE II--DISTRICTS HAVING GENERAL GRANT OF CONDEMNATION AUTHORITY

An examination of Table II indicates that the overwhelming majority of these special districts have, by virtue of their enabling statutes, general authority to condemn all property necessary to carry out any powers of the district. (These are listed in Table IIA.) Thus, approximately 157 different types of districts for a total of more than 2000 separate districts have general condemnation authority. Typically, these districts are granted authority to condemn any property "necessary to carry out any of the objects or purposes of the district." With respect to these districts, there is no need to rely on Sections 1238 through 1238.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure and the repeal of those sections would have no effect on the condemnation authority of these districts. The staff recommends no change be made in the condemnation authority of these agencies.

TABLE II--DISTRICTS THAT DO NOT HAVE GENERAL CONDEMNATION AUTHORITY

Table II lists 188 different types of districts. Thirty-one of these 188 types of districts do not have complete condemnation authority. Listed below, in the order in which they appear in Table II, are those districts which do not have general condemnation authority, the reference to the page on which the district is listed in Table II, the approximate number of districts of each type believed to exist, additional descriptive material for each, and the staff's recommended disposition of each. The staff suggests that you read the material to determine whether you agree with the staff's recommended disposition, but you will note that the staff recommends no change in existing statutes except for the districts listed as (16) and (18) below.

WATER DISTRICTS (GENERAL LAW)

(1) Municipal Water Districts (Act of 1935) (p.4)(?) [WaterCode App. §§ 41-1 to 41-13]. These are bond districts formed within municipalities to finance the acquisition or construction of water distribution systems. The district itself has no corporate powers (these remain in the municipality) and no condemnation authorization is necessary.

(2) Soil Conservation Districts (p. 5)(163)[Public Resources Code §§ 9074-9953]. These districts are authorized to "acquire by purchase, lease, contract, or gift all lands" necessary to carry out the plans of the district. Section 9253) The omission of the authority to condemn appears to be a conscious one, especially in view of Section 9257 which specifically provides that the district may make improvements in furtherance of soil conservation on private lands only with the consent of the owners thereof. The staff recommends that no greater authorization be provided.

WATER DISTRICTS (SPECIAL LAW)

(3) Bighorn Mountains Water Agency (p. 8)(1)[Water Code App. §§ 112-1 to 112-54]. As indicated in the table, this agency has only the power to condemn "property necessary to supply the agency . . . with water." This could easily be construed to prohibit exercise of the power to provide recreational facilities, water distribution systems, and hydroelectric power systems, although the latter are functions that the district is authorized to perform. Whether such limitation was intended, the staff does not know. However, inasmuch as this is a single special district and the recently enacted (1969) enabling statute does not indicate in any way that Section 1238 was relied on for greater authorization, the staff recommends that no greater authorization be provided by the Commission

(4) City of Marysville Levee District (p. 9)(1). Although this district has the power to condemn property for only one kind of flood control protection system (levee), no further authorization seems necessary in view of the antiquity of the enabling statute (1875-76) and the present ability of the city and county to provide the necessary protection.

(5) Delta Water Agency (p. 11)(1)[Water Code App. §§ 108-1.1 to 108-10.2].

This special district has only the stated authority to take property "by grant, purchase, gift, devise, or lease" Whether the omission of condemnation was intended or not the staff does not know. It would appear, however, that the enabling statute contemplates that the agency will enter into agreements with the state or federal government, and that the latter will carry out any projects necessary for fulfillment of the district purposes. Accordingly, the staff recommends that no further authorization be provided.

(6) Lower San Joaquin Levee District (p. 15)(1)[Water Code App.

§§ 75-1 to 75-14]. This agency also seems to serve only as a local liaison for the state and federal government. It does not have specific authorization to condemn and the staff does not believe such authorization is necessary.

(7) San Geronimo Pass Water Agency (p. 23)(1)[Water Code App.

§§ 101-1 to 101-52]. As with the ~~Big~~ Bighorn Mountains Water Agency (#3 above), this agency appears to have condemnation authority only to help supply water for the agency and not for its other functions. However, the same recommendation is repeated here, i.e., that the Commission make no change in the agency's enabling statute. If further authority is desired or required, the agency itself can make the request of the Legislature.

(8) Upper Santa Clara Valley Water Agency (p. 29)(1)[Water Code

App. §§ 103-1 to 103-49]. This agency appears to have condemnation authority to aid in the performance of its major functions, but may not have such authority for providing sewage, storm water, and hydroelectric facilities. Again, however, there is no indication that the agency has relied on Section 1238 to provide such authority and if a broader condemnation authority is desired or required, the agency should be able itself to secure such authority from the Legislature. Accordingly, the staff recommends no further authorization be provided.

FIRE AND POLICE PROTECTION DISTRICTS

(9) Joint County Jail Districts (p. 31)(?). Any two or more counties may form a district for the purpose of establishing a joint county jail to serve such counties. Penal Code Section 4051. The district has no authority to condemn. However, the district's board of directors is made up of two supervisors from each of the participating counties and it would appear that the counties involved could make the necessary acquisition. There is no suggestion that Section 1238 was relied on in any way and its repeal should cause no problem here.

(10) Police Protection Districts (in Unincorporated Territory) (p. 31)
(4). No new district has been or can be created after October 1, 1959. Under the enabling statute, the members of the board of supervisors of the county in which the district is located, are ex officio directors of the district and are authorized "to perform all acts necessary to provide adequate police protection in the district." This would presumably include providing an additional sheriff's substation or similar facility but this could be accomplished under the county's authorization to condemn. Accordingly, no further authorization seem required.

(11) Police Protection Districts (in Unincorporated Towns) (p. 31)(5).

Again no new district has been or can be created after October 1, 1959). Districts already formed have authority to "acquire" property for a police station but no specific condemnation authority. Whether such authority is required, the staff does not know. However, its absence does not seem to have caused problems and a police station does not seem to be a particularly engineering oriented facility; accordingly, no further change is suggested.

HEALTH AND SAFETY DISTRICTS

(12) Air Pollution Control Districts (p. 35)(6?). These districts have no authority to condemn; however, the omission appears deliberate as the function of the district is to enforce regulations, not acquire property. Each district's boundaries are coextensive with a county, and the board of supervisors of the county are ex officio the board of the district. Accordingly, it seems that, if office space or the like were required, this could be obtained through the county if necessary. The staff suggests no further changes be made.

(13) Bay Area Air Pollution Control District (p. 35)(1). Again, this district (comprising several counties), has no authority to condemn; however, the omission appears to be deliberate and no change is recommended.

(14) Municipal Sewer and Water Facilities Law of 1911 (p. 38)(6). This law provides for improvement districts within a city or a city and adjacent unincorporated territory. The city involved acquires any property necessary and performs the work; the district simply finances the work and has no corporate powers. Accordingly, no further changes are required.

(15) Municipal Sewer Districts of 1939 (p. 38)(?). These are bond districts formed by municipalities to finance the acquisition or construction of sewer systems. The district itself appears to have no corporate powers (these remain in the municipality) and no condemnation authorization is necessary.

(16) Public Cemetery Districts (p. 39)(256). Through an error in codification, not even the power to acquire property is expressly provided for public cemetery districts. See Health & Saf. Code § 8961 (annot. citing 14 Ops. Atty. Gen. 252). Assuming that these districts do have some power to acquire property, their only authority to condemn is granted by Code of Civil Procedure Section 1238(14). The staff accordingly suggests that Health and Safety Code Section 8961 be amended to provide:

8961. The district may maintain a cemetery or cemeteries, limited in use to burial in the ground of residents of the district or of members of the family of a resident who has heretofore purchased a burial plot , and for this purpose may take and hold title to property by grant, gift, devise, condemnation, lease, or any other method . [Phrasing with addition of word "condemnation" is identical to Health and Saf. Code § 8962.]

(17) Sewer Districts in Unincorporated Territory (Act of 1899)(p. 40)(?). It should be noted that this enabling statute was repealed in 1959 with a savings clause for existing districts formed thereunder. The district is controlled by the board of supervisors of the county in which it is located (Health & Saf. Code § 4662 provides that the board of supervisors "may lay out and construct sewers therein, and provide for making connections with the sewer . . . , and for the maintenance and extension of the sewerage district.") but does not appear to have its own independent corporate powers. The staff suggests that no further changes be made.

RECREATION DISTRICTS

(18) Resort Improvement Districts (p. 42)(7). No new districts have been or can be formed under this enabling statute after May 19, 1965. Existing districts are authorized to "acquire" property for a variety of governmental purposes. Other than the fact that these purposes include a number of purposes included in Code of Civil Procedure Section 1238, there is no indication that the term "acquire" includes condemn. The districts may be governed by the board of supervisors of the county or by a separate board of directors. In the first situation, acquisitions could perhaps be made through the county, if necessary. Nevertheless, the staff believes that some provision should be made. Perhaps a section could be added defining the term "acquire" as used in Section 13070 to include "condemn."

STREETS AND HIGHWAYS DISTRICTS (GENERAL LAW)

(19) Highway Lighting Districts (p. 44)(385). These are districts formed in unincorporated areas of a county with the board of supervisors acting ex officio as the governing body of the district. The district has no power to acquire or hold property but simply serves a planning and administrative function in providing highway lighting. No additional provisions seem required.

(20) Joint County Road Camp Districts (p. 44)(?). These districts are similar to the Joint County Jail Districts referred to above (see #9). The board of directors (made up of designated members of the boards of supervisors of the respective counties) are simply authorized to "establish" road camps. They have no specific authority to condemn or even to acquire property. Presumably, this function is or could be performed by one or more of the respective counties. There is no suggestion that Section 1238 is relied on in any way and no additional provision seems required.

(21) Municipal Lighting Maintenance District (p. 45)(?). These are simply assessment districts formed within municipalities to finance street lighting improvements. The district itself has no corporate powers (these are exercised by the city) and no condemnation authorization is required.

STREETS AND HIGHWAYS DISTRICTS (SPECIAL LAW)

(22) Los Angeles County Toll Tunnel Authority (p. 47)(1). This authority has no other function than to prepare a feasibility study with respect to a tunnel through the San Gabriel Mountains for presentation to the state Legislature. No condemnation authorization seems required.

MISCELLANEOUS DISTRICTS (GENERAL LAW)

(23) Citrus Pest Control Districts (p. 51)(7)

(24) Cotton Pests Abatement Districts (p. 51)(?)

(25) Horticultural Protection Districts (p. 51)(?). As indicated in the table, each of these districts has the power to "take by grant, purchase, gift, devise, lease, or otherwise . . . property" necessary to the exercise of the district's powers. The phrase "or otherwise" probably does not confer condemnation authority. If it is desired to provide such authority, it would require only the insertion of the term "condemnation" after "lease." However, such authority does not seem required. The present statutes provide specifically for compensation upon removal and destruction of certain property (e.g.), trees infected with "quick decline"), but the usual course seems to be to either control the pest or abate the host as a nuisance. With respect to acquiring permanent facilities for the district itself, this can be accomplished through voluntary purchase.

(26) Library Districts (p. 52)(1)

(27) Library Districts in Unincorporated Towns and Villages (p. 52)(8).

(28) Union High School Library Districts (p. 53)(4). The trustees of these library districts are merely authorized to "purchase" property. Educ. Code §§ 27560, 27855, 28255. There is no indication that Code of Civil Procedure Section 1238 is relied on for any further authority and the needs of the district seem capable of fulfillment without condemnation authority. The staff suggests no further provision be made.

(29) Planning Districts (p. 53)(?)

(30) Regional Planning Districts (p. 53)(?). These boards perform planning functions only. They have power to acquire property through voluntary transactions for office space, but they have no power to condemn property and none seems needed.

(31) Student Transportation Districts (p. 53)(?). These are districts formed within a county which has no state junior college to provide transportation for students in the 13th and 14th grade of a state college. The board of directors has power to acquire property through voluntary transactions, but has no condemnation authority. The only purpose of acquiring property is to provide office and garage space and condemnation authority does not seem required.

DISTRICTS NOT LISTED IN TABLE II

Table II was compiled based on information received from the Office of the Legislative Counsel which purported to list all the types of special districts existing in California. Table I, however, contains a number of special districts or enabling statutes not identified as to class that the staff has located through its own research. It is possible that districts were never in fact formed under some of these enabling statutes or have long since been dissolved. In any event, the repeal of Section 1238 et seq. does not appear to affect them adversely but we list them here for the sake of completeness.

I. The following special districts have adequate condemnation authority under their respective enabling statutes and the repeal of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1238 should have no adverse effects on their operations.

1. District Agricultural Associations (50)
2. San Francisco Port Authority (1)
3. Community Redevelopment Agencies (?)
4. Housing Authorities (?)
5. Limited Dividend Housing Corporations (?)
6. Alameda County Water District (1)

II. The enabling statutes of the following special districts have been repealed; however, savings clauses in the repealer have preserved special districts already organized. These districts (if they still exist) have adequate condemnation authority and the repeal of Code of Civil Procedure Section 1238 should have no adverse effects on their operations.

- *1. County Recreation Districts
- *2. Recreation, Park, and Parkway Districts
- *3. Regional Shoreline Districts
- *4. Park, Recreation, and Parkway Districts

*Reorganized by operation of law as Recreation and Park Districts under Public Resources Code Section 5780 et seq.

6. County Power Pumping Districts
7. Drainage Districts (Act of 1923)
8. Overflow Districts
9. Sanitary Districts (Act of 1891)

27. Washington Drainage District of Yolo County
28. Sacramento River Drainage District
29. Drainage Districts (Act of 1897)
30. Drainage Districts (Act of 1880)

III. The following special districts do not have condemnation authority under their enabling statutes. However, such authority appears never to have been intended. A number of these districts are not independent entities but, rather, taxing or assessment bodies.

1. Corporations (nonprofit) to administer libraries
2. Community Land Chest Corporations

3. County Free Library Taxing Districts
4. Highway Interchange Districts
5. Local Planning Agencies
6. Open Space Maintenance Districts
