

Memorandum 71-87

Subject: Study 39.30 - Attachment, Garnishment, Execution (Employees' Earnings Protection Law)

Jack Horton has checked the recommendation on the Employees' Earnings Protection Law and has incorporated the changes made at the last meetings into the recommendation. The recommendation has been edited and sent to the printer.

Attached is a copy of what went to the printer. The white pages consist of the letter of transmittal, preliminary portion of the recommendation, and the Comments to the various sections. Also attached (yellow pages) is the text of the proposed legislation. A number of technical changes have been made in the proposed legislation; these changes are shown on the attached material.

It will not be possible to make any more changes in the recommendation other than those that are absolutely essential. We need the recommendation in printed form for interim hearings in January, and it will be next to impossible to meet that schedule.

The staff recommends that one change be made in the proposed legislation before it is printed. We believe that Section 723.101 (pages 26-27 of yellow material attached) should be revised to delete subdivisions (b), (c), and (d) of that section. If this deletion is made, the creditor would be permitted to determine whether he would make service by mail or by personal delivery and could recover the costs he actually incurred for service. He would not need to try mail service first before using personal service in cases where he knows that the employer will refuse mail service. We do not believe that this staff recommendation will substantially increase the use of personal service. The great majority of employers will accept mail service, and most creditors probably will not advance service costs (with the distinct possibility that they may not recover those costs) for personal delivery unless they believe that mail service will be ineffective. Eliminating the three subdivisions of Section 723.101 as recommended eliminates the complex court procedure required by subdivision (d) to determine priorities among creditors when one creditor uses personal delivery after another has attempted to make service by mail. Finally, even in those (hopefully rare) cases where personal delivery is used, the burden on the debtor will be far less burdensome than under the multiple levy system now used.

If the staff recommendation is adopted, consideration might be given to limiting the fees the serving officer can charge for service. The staff does not recommend that the fees be limited; we believe that the general provisions governing this matter should remain applicable. We mention the matter, however, because there was a suggestion made at the last meeting that the fees now required may be more than is needed to cover the expense of service.

The staff has no additional suggestions for revision of the approved recommendation. If we receive any suggested revisions from representatives of any of the groups that are now reviewing the recommendation, we will bring them to your attention by a supplement to this memorandum.

Respectfully submitted,

John H. DeMouilly

October 4, 1971

To THE HONORABLE RONALD REAGAN
Governor of California and
THE LEGISLATURE OF CALIFORNIA

The California Law Revision Commission was directed by Resolution Chapter 202 of the Statutes of 1957 to study the law relating to attachment, garnishment, and property exempt from execution. This recommendation deals with one aspect of this subject--wage garnishment procedure and certain related matters.

Except for a few relatively minor differences, the proposed legislation set forth in this recommendation is the same as Preprint Senate Bill No. 1 for the 1972 session. The preprinted bill was printed late in October 1971 at the request of the Commission so that the substance of the Commission's recommendations would be available in convenient form for study prior to the 1972 legislative session.

This recommendation does not take into account legislation enacted after November 1, 1971; and, at the time this recommendation went to press, final action had not been taken on a number of bills affecting wage garnishment procedure and related matters. See, e.g., Assembly Bills 513, 1725, 2172, and 3057, introduced at the 1971 regular session. The Commission plans to study any bills enacted after November 1, 1971, and to request that any needed revisions in its proposed legislation be made after it has been introduced at the 1972 session.

The Commission wishes to acknowledge the substantial contribution of its research consultants, Professor William D. Warren, UCLA Law School, who provided the background study that served as the basis for this recommendation, and Professor Stefan A. Riesenfeld, Boalt Hall, University of California at Berkeley. The Commission also is indebted to numerous other persons who contributed to the development of this recommendation by attending Commission meetings or by submitting written comments.

This is the second in a series of recommendations. For the first recommendation, see Recommendation Relating to Attachment, Garnishment, and Exemptions From Execution: Discharge From Employment, 10 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 0000 (1971). See also Chapter 0000 of the Statutes of 1971.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS E. STANTON, JR.

RECOMMENDATION OF THE CALIFORNIA

LAW REVISION COMMISSION

relating to

ATTACHMENT, GARNISHMENT, AND EXEMPTIONS FROM EXECUTION

Employees' Earnings Protection Law

The past several years have witnessed increasingly critical review of the process of wage garnishment¹ leading to significant judicial² and legislative³ activity--both federal and state--in this area. However, both the rapid pace of recent events and the involvement of different branches and levels of government have produced conflict and uncertainty, and the need for further reform in a number of areas remains. This recommendation reviews the area of wage garnishment and related matters and proposes solutions to the problems revealed.⁴

 4. The California Law Revision Commission is actively engaged in a general review of the California statutes relating to the entire field of attachment, garnishment, and exemptions from execution with a view to recommending the enactment of a comprehensive revision of this body of law at a future session of the Legislature. This recommendation deals with one aspect of that general subject.

MODERNIZATION OF CALIFORNIA WAGE GARNISHMENT PROCEDURE

Introduction

The primary objective of the measures recently enacted at the state and federal levels has been to secure--through restrictions on the amounts which can be withheld--adequate protection for the wage earner's day-to-day income. However, California's archaic multiple levy wage garnishment procedure has been left basically unchanged, and serious procedural defects became more apparent when the recently enacted statutes limiting the amounts that can be withheld from wages went into effect.

Present Law

California law requires that writs of execution be levied by a sheriff, constable, or marshal⁵ and permits only amounts owing to the debtor at the time of service of the writ to be reached by his creditor through wage garnishment.⁶ A fee is charged for each writ of execution issued⁷ and a writ is good for a maximum of 60 days.⁸ Thus, for example, if a creditor is owed $250 but is entitled to levy only on $25 of the debtor's earnings at each weekly pay period, ten separate levies by the sheriff or marshal are required. This entails ten separate trips to the debtor's place of employment by this officer and at least ten bookkeeping computations by the employer.⁹ In addition, it requires at least two applications to the court clerk because the period of garnishment will extend for more than 60 days. Moreover, the example assumes that the entire $25 goes towards satisfying the obligation. In fact, because the fees charged by the sheriff or marshal for service,¹⁰ the fee for issuance of the writ, and interest on the obligation are deducted first from the amount collected,¹¹ less than

9. It has been estimated that, in 1968, employers in Los Angeles County alone expended nearly two million dollars to process wage garnishments-- or almost $20 per paycheck garnished. See Western Center on Law & Poverty, supra note 1, at 7. Present law provides virtually no relief to the employer from this burden. See Civil Code § 4701 (employer authorized to deduct the one-dollar service charge for each payment made pursuant to child support order); Code Civ. Proc. § 710 (authorizes public employer to deduct $2.50 service charge where required to comply with levy made pursuant to that section).
 10. See, e.g., Govt. Code §§ 26722 (fee for service of writ of execution is $5), 26739 (collection fee of not less than $1), 26746 (mileage--one way at 70 cents a mile).

half of this amount can be expected to be applied to reduce the amount owing, and the number of levies will accordingly be doubled.¹² Obviously, this system of multiple levies is both timewasting and expensive for all concerned--public officials, creditors, debtors, employers, and the public generally.¹³

Recommendations

Continuing Levy Procedure

In New York and other states, a court order to an employer to pay over the debtor's earnings constitutes a continuing levy and is effective until the debt is paid or the debtor is no longer

12. The following examples were cited to the Commission by Mr. Gordon H. Bishop, representing the California Department of Consumer Affairs:

A typical wage-earner makes $4.00 per hour, $160.00 per week. His "disposable income" is $120.00, of which 25%, or $30.00 is subject to garnishment. From that $30.00 is deducted $1.50 for the writ, $10.00 sheriff's charges for service, and $.70 interest, leaving $17.80 for reduction of the judgment principal. If the debtor were to discharge a $500 judgment through a series of such executions, he will have paid out in excess of $800.

So much for the $4.00 per hour man. Perhaps he can afford the premium. But consider the case of the "poor" whom the law is designed to give major relief.

A wage-earner makes $2.00 per hour, $80.00 per week. If his "disposable income" is $64.00, $16.00 is subject to garnishment. Subtracting the costs required to levy would leave just $3.80 to reduce the judgment principal, assuming the costs in the above example. If the executions were to run for the next 2 1/2 years, the $500 judgment would be paid off at a cost to the debtor in excess of $2000.

See Minutes, California Law Revision Commission, Meeting of January 15-16, 1971, on file at the Commission's office, School of Law, Stanford, California.

13. Despite the fact that the sheriffs and marshals charge a fee for each levy made, it has been estimated that the county--its taxpayers--pays 30 to 50 percent of the expenses of collection. Brunn, supra note 1, at 1222.

employed by the employer.¹⁴ Such a system is clearly more convenient and less expensive than the present California multiple levy system. The major drawback of the continuing levy is that it gives a preferred position to the creditor who first resorts to legal process to enforce his claims. If the initial order is given effect indefinitely, the debt is large, and the debtor's earnings modest, subsequent creditors may be postponed for substantial periods of time. Some compromise between the two extremes is necessary. The Commission accordingly recommends that an order generally¹⁵ be in effect for no longer than 120 days,¹⁶ at the end of which time the creditor who secured such order would be precluded for a short period (10 days) from serving on the same employer another order based on the same debt. This moratorium period would permit another creditor to intervene with an order based on his debt, which would then continue in effect for a 120-day period.

Service by Mail

The use of the sheriff or marshal as a high-priced messenger when a creditor is attempting to reach an asset like earnings is generally an extravagant waste of time and money. The United States Post Office can perform the same task for a very modest cost. It is in the interests of debtors, creditors, and the public generally that the function of service be performed in the most efficient and economical manner. The Commission accordingly recommends that service by mail of the various applications, notices, and orders required for this process be authorized and that recovery of the cost of personal service be permitted only where mail service has been refused.

14. See, e.g., N.Y. Pers. Prop. Law, Art. 3-A, § 48(a) (McKinney 1950). For a discussion of the experience in Washington that resulted in a continuing levy, see Note, Creditor-Debtor Law--Wage Garnishment in Washington: A Postscript--Washington's New Garnishment Statute, 46 Wash. L. Rev. 423, 438 (1971).

15. This rule should not apply to orders for support or for the collection of taxes. Such orders should, until satisfied, have a continuing priority over all other obligations. See discussion, pp. 000-000 infra.

16. The period of 120 days was selected because the Commission was advised it would be adequate to permit complete satisfaction of the majority of consumer debts.

Employer's Service Charge

The continuing levy procedure should substantially reduce the collection burdens imposed on employers. To alleviate these burdens further, the Commission recommends that an employer be authorized to deduct a one-dollar service charge from the debtor's earnings each time that the employer is required to withhold on behalf of the creditor pursuant to a withholding order.¹⁷

Ex Parte Application; Judicial Review

Assuming that adequate limitations on the amount which may be garnished are provided automatically, the Commission recommends that the levy procedure continue to be initiated by the creditor upon ex parte application. Provisions for notice and a preliminary judicial hearing in all cases would make the procedure unnecessarily complicated and expensive for all parties. Although the order requiring withholding of earnings should be issued ex parte, provision should be made for an expeditious judicial hearing as to whether the debtor is entitled to an exemption of all or a portion of his earnings on the grounds of hardship (discussed infra) or whether the order should be modified or terminated for some other reason. The debtor should be given adequate notice of his right to such a hearing.

17. Existing law contains no general authorization for such a charge. See note 9 supra & accompanying text.

PREJUDGMENT RESTRICTIONS ON WAGE GARNISHMENT

In June 1969, the United States Supreme Court in Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp.¹⁸ held that the prejudgment garnishment of wages under a Wisconsin statute constituted a taking of property in violation of the due process requirements of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution. Six months later, the California Supreme Court, relying on Sniadach, held in McCallop v. Carberry¹⁹ that California's then existing prejudgment wage garnishment procedure also constituted a taking of property in violation of procedural due process. In an attempt to conform to the relatively narrow holdings in these cases, Section 690.6 of the California Code of Civil Procedure was amended in 1970 to exempt from levy of attachment "all earnings of the debtor due or owing for his personal services" ²⁰ More recent decisions of the California Supreme Court have placed substantial constitutional limitations on prejudgment attachment procedures generally.²¹ Regardless of what revisions in these procedures are made to satisfy these limitations, the Commission recommends that the complete and automatic exemption of wages from garnishment pursuant to prejudgment attachment procedures be preserved.

POSTJUDGMENT RESTRICTIONS ON WAGE GARNISHMENT

Introduction

At the same time that prejudgment garnishment of wages received the scrutiny of the courts, wage garnishment generally--including garnishment under postjudgment levy of execution--was the subject of Congressional action. Title III²² was incorporated into the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act of 1968 restricting the "garnishment"²³ of "earnings"²⁴ of a debtor to certain limited amounts²⁵ --basically 25 percent of "disposable earnings."²⁶ These restrictions were made applicable nationwide, effective July 1, 1970.²⁷

22. 15 U.S.C. §§ 1671-1677.

23. Subdivision (c) of Section 302 of the act (15 U.S.C. § 1672(c)) provides:

(c) The term "garnishment" means any legal or equitable procedure through which the earnings of any individual are required to be withheld for payment of any debt.

24. Subdivision (a) of Section 302 of the act (15 U.S.C. § 1672(a)) provides:

(a) The term "earnings" means compensation paid or payable for personal services, whether denominated as wages, salary, commission, bonus, or otherwise, and includes periodic payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program.

25. See Consumer Credit Protection Act of 1968 (§ 303(a), 15 U.S.C. § 1673(a)).

26. Subdivision (b) of Section 302 of the act (15 U.S.C. § 1672(b)) provides:

(b) The term "disposable earnings" means that part of the earnings of any individual remaining after the deduction from those earnings of any amounts required by law to be withheld.

27. The federal act specifically provides that "no court of . . . any State may make, execute or enforce any order or process in violation of this section." 15 U.S.C. § 1673(c). Hence, the conformity of a state law may be challenged in either a state or a federal court if the state enforces a garnishment statute that fails to conform to the federal minimum requirements. To provide some measure of uniformity, the California Legislature amended subdivision (b) of Section 690.6 of the Code of Civil Procedure to exempt from levy of execution such portion of a debtor's earnings "as is allowed by statute of the United States." Cal. Stats. 1970, Ch. 1523, § 19.

Subdivision (a) of Section 303 of the federal act provides, in part:²⁸

(a) . . . [T]he maximum part of the aggregate disposable earnings of an individual for any workweek which is subjected to garnishment may not exceed

(1) 25 per centum of his disposable earnings for that week, or

(2) The amount by which his disposable earnings for that week exceed thirty times the Federal minimum hourly wage prescribed by section 6(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 in effect at the time the earnings are payable [currently $ 1.60] whichever is less.

This means that, if an individual's disposable earnings for a workweek are $48 or less, his earnings may not be garnished in any amount. If his earnings are between $48 and $64, the entire amount above $48 may be garnished. Above $64, the 25 percent rule applies. Where debtors in low income brackets are concerned, the protection afforded by the federal law seems inadequate to permit even a subsistence level of existence for a debtor and his family faced with the high living costs prevailing in California.

To this deficiency in the federal law must be added the difficulty of determining what constitutes "disposable earnings." The federal law defines "disposable earnings" as those earnings remaining "after the deduction . . . of any amounts required by law to be withheld."²⁹ The latter amounts apparently include amounts withheld for federal and state income taxes, federal social security, and state disability insurance. Less clear is the treatment of wage assignments and contributions to public retirement funds. These ambiguities obviously impose a difficult burden on the employer who must determine what part of his employee's earnings are subject to garnishment.

28. 15 U.S.C. § 1673(a).

29. 15 U.S.C. § 1672(b).

Even where the disposable earnings test can be clearly applied, the results achieved can be disturbing. For example, amounts withheld for federal income tax purposes are clearly deductible in determining "disposable earnings." Presumably, this would permit a debtor who does not choose to claim all his exemptions to shield a certain amount of his earnings from his creditors. On the other hand, a debtor claiming a greater number of exemptions will have less withheld and, therefore, more subject to garnishment. Thus, a debtor with a large family and greater needs may have more earnings garnished than a single debtor with the same gross income but with more limited needs.

Recommendations

To alleviate the problems outlined above,³⁰ the Commission makes the following recommendations.

Basic Restrictions; Withholding Tables

The Commission recommends that the amount of a debtor's earnings subject to withholding by the employer under a wage garnishment be limited by statute. The statute should prescribe a formula under which definite amounts would be deducted for federal and state income taxes, social security, and state disability insurance. Similar deductions are made under federal law; however, these deductions are based on the actual deductions taken from the wages of the particular debtor. The Commission recommends that, in all cases, the deductions for federal and state income taxes be based on the amount that would be withheld from the gross earnings of a single person who claims one tax exemption.

30. It should be noted that the enactment of a statute requiring withholding for state income taxes would magnify these problems. The Commission's recommendations assume the enactment of such a statute. If a state tax withholding statute is not enacted, appropriate revisions will be required in the Commission's recommendations.

In addition to the deductions listed above, the Commission recommends that an additional deduction--based on the federal minimum hourly wage--be allowed in determining the amount of a debtor's earnings which are subject to garnishment. This additional deduction for any workweek would equal 30 times the federal minimum hourly wage. After making these deductions, the Commission recommends that 25 percent of the earnings remaining (i.e., the debtor's "nonexempt earnings") be subject to withholding under an earnings withholding order.

Fixing the deductions in the manner stated permits the preparation of withholding tables which prescribe the maximum amount of earnings which may be withheld from a given amount of gross earnings. An employer would not have to make computations but would merely have to refer to such tables to determine the amount he is required to withhold under an earnings withholding order. For the employer's further convenience, the Commission recommends that the State Administrator be required to prepare withholding tables for weekly, monthly, and other common pay periods. A creditor serving an earnings withholding order should be required to accompany the order with a copy of these tables.³¹

The following table indicates the approximate amounts that would be withheld under the Commission's proposed Employees' Earnings Protection Law as compared to the approximate amounts that would be withheld under existing California law (and the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act (CCPA)).

31. The State Administrator should be authorized to dispense with this requirement in cases where he determines that the employer already has this information.

Withholding Comparison Table

Deductions have been made for federal withholding, social security, state disability insurance, and state income tax. The state income tax deduction is based on tax tables for 1970 state taxes. The federal social security tax rate is 5.2% on the first $7,800 of annual gross earnings. The state disability insurance rate is 1% on the first $7,400 of annual gross earnings. The amounts shown as disposable earnings in this table are based on a full deduction for social security and disability insurance respectively even though, under present law, in the higher earnings brackets this amount would not be deducted during the entire year. The one-dollar service charge, which an employer would be entitled to make for each payment under the Commission's proposed legislation, is in addition to the amount listed in the table.

600/31,200	391.69	97.92	427.07	106.77	86.00

As the withholding comparison table demonstrates, a major benefit of the Commission's proposals is that they would permit a low income debtor to retain a greater portion of his earnings than is permitted under existing law, thereby virtually eliminating his need to claim an exemption based on hardship for a greater amount of his earnings. This will not only protect an unsophisticated debtor unable to follow the procedures necessary to exempt additional earnings, but it will also avoid burdening the courts with claims of exemption. Because the amount of earnings withheld for the creditor is the same for all debtors with the same gross income, regardless of family size, the debtor who has claimed more than one dependent for tax purposes will have an actual take-home pay greater than that of a single debtor with the same gross earnings. The recommendation, in this way, recognizes and accommodates the greater need of the debtor with dependents.

Hardship Exemption

In the past, California has theoretically taken a more flexible approach to the protection of earnings than that evidenced by the federal law. Under subdivision (c) of Section 690.6 of the Code of Civil Procedure, a debtor may protect from execution all earnings necessary for the use of the debtor's family residing in this state and supported in whole or in part by the debtor, unless the debts are:

(1) Incurred by the debtor, his wife, or his family for the common necessities of life.

* * * * *

In actual practice, the exemption provided for earnings necessary for the use of a debtor's family has proved to be of little value to the debtor. In order to obtain the exemption, the debtor must follow the procedure outlined in Section 690.50. If the creditor alleges that the debt was incurred for "common necessities," there follows a process of affidavit, counteraffidavit, hearing, and possible appeal; all of which takes time, effort, and some sophistication, and still may end with the debtor denied money currently necessary for his family's support. Perhaps, as a result, comparatively few debtors have availed themselves of the exemption although many more appear to be eligible for it.³²

32. See Western Center on Law & Poverty, supra note 1, at 6, 122-123. See also Brunn, supra note 1, at 1219.

The Commission recommends that the "common necessary" exception be eliminated,³³ that the procedure for claiming an exemption of an additional amount essential for support of the debtor's family be simplified, and that the availability of this right be made clear to the debtor. However, in recognition of the greater liberality provided in the basic exemption, a stricter standard--"essential for support"-- should be provided to make clear that the exemption is only intended for use in extraordinary circumstances and is not intended to shield a debtor from his judgment creditors while maintaining other than an austere life style. Only such additional amount as is required for the maintenance of a basic standard of living should be exempt.

33. The Commission also recommends elimination of the exception in subdivision (c) of Section 690.6 that permits a creditor who is a former employee of the debtor to take a portion of the debtor's wages even though the debtor can show the money is necessary for the support of his family. This exception is largely irrelevant to the low income debtor, for it is highly unlikely that such a debtor would have obligations to employees.

ORDERS FOR SUPPORT OR FOR THE COLLECTION OF STATE TAXES

Introduction

Subdivision (b) of Section 303 of the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act specifically exempts (1) "any order of any court for the support of any person" and (2) "any debt due for any State or Federal tax" from the restrictions imposed on the amounts permitted to be withheld from earnings in the collection of all other types of debts.³⁴ The legislation recommended by the Commission recognizes the special nature of these two types of debts.

Orders for Support

Enforcement of orders for support is accomplished in a variety of ways under existing law.³⁵ Perhaps most commonly, compliance is achieved under the threat of the exercise of the court's contempt power; however, execution may be levied for unpaid, accrued amounts.³⁶ In addition, Civil Code Section 4701 authorizes a court to enforce an order for child support by requiring a parent to assign future wages and then directing an order to the employer carrying out such assignment. Such order remains in effect until revoked by the court. Regardless of the enforcement procedure followed, orders for support are not generally subject to any fixed limitations³⁷ and obligations for support are often accorded some measure of priority over other types of 35. See, e.g., Civil Code § 4701; Welf. & Inst. Code § 11489.

36. See, e.g., Rankins v. Rankins, 52 Cal. App.2d 231, 126 P.2d 125 (1942).

37. See id. (exemption for 50% of person's earnings not available against execution issued upon a judgment for support). But see Welf. & Inst. Code § 11489 (exemption for 50% of earnings on execution issued upon judgment in action for aid to dependent child).

debts.³⁸ The Commission recommends that such treatment be continued. Specifically, it is recommended that the court be authorized to issue an earnings withholding order to enforce a prior order or judgment for the support of any person, including a former spouse of the debtor. The order should continue in effect until terminated by the court; it should be unrestricted in amount (although the debtor should be permitted to have the order reduced by the amount he proves is essential for the support of himself or his present family); and the order should be given priority over all other earnings withholding orders. An order for support should not, however, preclude simultaneous withholding under another order if the debtor's income is sufficiently large to enable withholding under both.

Tax Orders

Under existing law, there are a number of procedures for the collection of unpaid, delinquent state taxes:

(1) The tax liability can be reduced to judgment; and, subject to the various exemptions from execution, the judgment can be collected in the same way any other judgment is collected.

(2) A warrant,³⁹ which has the same effect as a writ of execution, can be issued by the taxing agency. Collection under such a warrant also is subject to the same exemptions as a levy of execution.⁴⁰

38. See, e.g., Code Civ. Proc. § 690.6 (earnings necessary for support of family exempt from execution).

39. Provisions that authorize issuance of such warrants are: Unemp. Ins. Code § 1785 (unemployment compensation contributions); Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6776 (sales and use taxes), 7881 (vehicle fuel license tax), 9001 (use fuel tax), 10111 (motor transportation tax), 16071 (gift tax), 18906 (personal income tax), 26191 (bank and corporation taxes), 30341 (cigarette tax), 32365 (alcoholic beverage tax). See also Rev. & Tax. Code § 14321 (inheritance tax).

40. See Code Civ. Proc. § 690.51.

(3) A notice or order to withhold⁴¹ may be given by mail to any person who has in his possession or control any credit or other personal property or thing of value belonging to the person alleged to be liable for the tax, and such person may not dispose of the property without the consent of the taxing agency unless the tax is paid in full. This is a type of attachment procedure. The person notified is required to make a report to the taxing agency of the credit or other personal property being withheld within a few days after receipt of the notice. The personal income tax law and bank and corporation tax law contain a significant additional feature: They require the person holding the property to deliver it to the Franchise Tax Board up to the amount of the delinquent taxes. In contrast with the warrant procedure, there are no exemptions applicable to property required to be withheld and delivered to the Franchise Tax Board pursuant to these two provisions. Accordingly, the board is encouraged to use this third alternative whenever it is available. The Commission has been advised that, in some cases, an employee's entire paycheck has been withheld and paid over to the Franchise Tax Board for delinquent personal income taxes, leaving the employee with nothing from his current earnings to cover the basic needs of his family.

These tax collection procedures should be integrated with the procedures provided generally for levy upon an employee's earnings. While the protection of the public fisc justifies the preferential treatment of tax orders, it does not justify summarily depriving a tax debtor of the means for the current support of his family. The Commission recommends that taxing agencies which are authorized to issue warrants or notices to withhold be authorized to issue directly without application to the court withholding orders for the collection of state tax liabilities. The amount withheld under such orders should be limited to not more than 50 percent of the tax debtor's non-exempt earnings. In addition, the tax debtor should be permitted to claim an additional amount as "essential for the support of himself or his family." The taxing agency should also be authorized as an alternative to apply to the court for an order requiring the debtor's employer to pay all earnings other than that amount which the taxpayer proves is essential for the support of himself or his family. Orders issued under either procedure should have priority over all other earnings withholding orders except orders for support. However, regardless which procedure is followed, the tax liability should be required either to be shown on the face of the debtor's return or to have been determined in an administrative or judicial proceeding at which the tax debtor had notice and an opportunity to be heard.

41. Provisions that authorize the giving of a notice to withhold are: Unemp. Ins. Code § 1755 (unemployment compensation contributions); Rev. & Tax. Code §§ 6702 (sales and use taxes), 7852 (vehicle fuel license tax), 8952 (use fuel tax), 10051 (motor transportation tax), 11451 (private car tax), 16101 (gift tax), 18807 (personal income tax), 26132 (bank and corporation taxes), 30311 (cigarette tax), 32381 (alcoholic beverage tax).

STATE EXEMPTION FROM FEDERAL LAW; STATE ADMINISTRATION

The federal Consumer Credit Protection Act invites each state to enact its own restrictions on the garnishment of earnings and to undertake its own enforcement of these provisions.⁴² The advantages of exemption seem apparent. Nothing is gained by having two separate garnishment restriction laws, one state and one federal. An exemption from the federal restrictions would permit California debtors, creditors, and employers to refer to only one body of law to determine the extent to which earnings are subject to garnishment. To gain exemption, a state must enact a law with provisions at least as protective to the individual as the federal law.⁴³ The Commission

42. Section 305 of the act (15 U.S.C. § 1675) provides:

305. The Secretary of Labor may by regulation exempt from the provisions of Section 303(a) garnishments issued under the laws of any State if he determines that the laws of that State provide restrictions on garnishment which are substantially similar to those provided in Section 303(a).

43. 29 C.F.R. § 870.51 (1970) provides:

870.51. (a) It is the policy of the Secretary of Labor to permit exemption from section 303(a) of the CCPA garnishments issued under the laws of a State if those laws considered together cover every case of garnishment covered by the Act, and if those laws provide the same or greater protection to individuals. Differences in text between the restrictions of State laws and those in section 303(a) of the Act are not material so long as the State laws provide the same or greater restrictions on the garnishment of individuals' earnings.

(b) In determining whether State-regulated garnishments should be exempted from section 303(a) of the CCPA, or whether such an exemption should be terminated, the laws of the State shall be examined with particular regard to the classes of persons and of transactions to which they may apply; the formulas provided for determining the maximum part of an individual's earnings which may be subject to garnishment; restrictions on the application of the formulas; and with regard to procedural burdens placed on the individual whose earnings are subject to garnishment.

(c) Particular attention is directed to the fact that subsection (a) of section 303, when considered with subsection (c) of that section, is read as not requiring the raising of the subsection (a) restrictions as affirmative defenses in garnishment proceedings.

recommends that an exemption from federal control in this area be sought and believes that the proposals it recommends would permit an exemption to be obtained. To obtain the exemption, a representative authorized to act on behalf of the state as a liaison with the federal administrator must be designated. The designated official should also be given the duties of rule making and similar administrative tasks. The Commission recommends that the Director of Industrial Relations be selected as the State Administrator to administer these procedures.

To achieve uniformity, the Judicial Council should be authorized to prescribe forms necessary to carry out the prescribed procedures.

RELATED PROBLEMS

Savings and Checking Accounts

Section 690.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides an exemption of $1,000 for savings accounts in savings and loan associations. A $1,500 exemption is provided for credit union accounts by Section 15406 of the Financial Code. No similar protection from garnishment is provided for checking or savings accounts in a bank. In view of the almost universal use of personal checking accounts as at least the temporary depository of earnings and the increasingly common practice of employers to deposit earnings of an employee directly into the employee's account, this failure results in the anomalous situation that unpaid earnings are protected but paid earnings deposited in a bank account are not.⁴⁴ While there may be no compulsion under the federal statute to protect from execution earnings deposited in a bank account,⁴⁵ this does not alleviate the obvious need to grant some such protection if any realistic measure of relief is to be provided for a debtor's earnings.

While the foregoing strongly suggests that earnings should be protected in whatever form they may take, there are problems inherent in the exemption of bank accounts that do not arise upon levy against an employer or even against the wage earner himself. Any attempt to exempt all or a specified percentage of earnings deposited in an account would necessarily involve such difficult issues as the tracing and identifying of funds deposited at different times, the allocation of withdrawals to respective deposits, and the claims of third persons to joint accounts. These issues are minimized by the approach taken in Section 690.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure (savings and loan association accounts) and Section 15406 of the Financial Code (credit union accounts). Adoption of the same approach with respect to bank accounts would give the wage earner reasonable assurance that garnishment would not leave him destitute and, at the same time, provide a relatively simple procedure for levy upon an account or accounts larger than the basic exemption.

Accordingly, the Commission recommends that Section 690.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure and Section 15406 of the Financial Code be repealed and that one uniform provision be enacted to provide a $500 aggregate exemption from both attachment⁴⁶ and execution for deposits or accounts of a debtor in any financial institution. This exemption would replace the present exemptions for savings and loan association accounts ($1,000) and credit union accounts ($1,500) and would provide protection to bank deposits and checking accounts that is not now provided. The Commission can perceive no justification for the present diverse treatment of deposits and accounts and believes that an exemption should not depend upon whether the debtor is astute enough to deposit his funds with^a savings and loan association or credit union.

46. There is no procedure provided by the California statutes permitting the debtor to obtain a hearing prior to a prejudgment levy of attachment, and the California Supreme Court has held that the existing statute fails to satisfy constitutional requirements. Randone v. Appellate Department, 5 Cal.3d 536, 488 P.2d 13, 96 Cal. Rptr. 709 (1971). Cf. Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp., 395 U.S. 337 (1969). This recommendation does not deal with the constitutional problems involved in prejudgment levy of attachment; it provides limitations on amounts that may be attached in circumstances where attachment may be constitutionally permitted. The limited exemption from attachment for checking and savings accounts is provided in anticipation of the enactment of general attachment procedures that will satisfy constitutional requirements.

The $500 exemption for deposits and accounts in financial institutions should be available only if it is claimed by the debtor pursuant to Section 690.50 of the Code of Civil Procedure. Moreover, the debtor should be permitted to claim as exempt only that portion of an account levied upon which, when added to all other amounts held by the debtor in other accounts on the date of the levy, equals $500. In claiming the exemption, the debtor should be required to list in his claim for exemption the amount he holds in all other accounts on the date of the levy even though the other accounts are not levied on. Thus, for example, if the account levied on has $300, but the debtor has $500 on deposit in another account, none of the $300 account would be exempt. A husband and wife should be entitled to only one $500 exemption and accounts standing in the name of either or both of them should be listed in the claim of exemption even though only one of them is sued or is the judgment debtor.

The basic $500 exemption should prove adequate in the majority of cases. However, additional protection seems justified and a debtor should be permitted to claim a greater exemption where he can show that the amount claimed is essential for the support of himself or his family. Finally, where there has been a valid prejudgment attachment of the bank account of a business, the debtor should be permitted to claim exemption for such greater amount as he can show is essential for the maintenance and continuation of his business. It should be emphasized, however, that both these further exemptions would apply only where the debtor can prove that the basic exemption is inadequate to provide for the contingencies referred to.

Paid Earnings

As noted above, in 1970, Code of Civil Procedure Section 690.6 was amended in an attempt to conform that section to the recently announced judicial constitutional rulings and the new federal statutory restrictions. However, the section as amended was restricted to earnings "due and owing." This amendment constituted a change from the former California law which protected earnings "received" by the debtor.⁴⁷ Moreover, to exempt earnings payable ("due and owing") by an employer but to permit these same earnings to be subject to levy as soon as they pass into the hands of the employee-debtor seems inconsistent with, if not contrary to, the rationale of Sniadach and McCallop and the purpose of the federal legislation. To avoid this inconsistency and to restore this aspect of prior law, the Commission recommends that earnings in the possession of the debtor be afforded statutory protection comparable to that given wages earned but unpaid. The exemption may be granted automatically where the earnings are readily identifiable as such. Where this is not the case, the debtor should be required to claim and show that he is entitled to an exemption.

⁴⁷. Between 1937 and 1970, California granted a wage exemption to earnings "received." Cal. Stats. 1937, Ch. 578, § 1, p. 1623. Prior to 1937, the exemption was accorded to earnings without reference to their status as "owing" or paid over. The word "received" was construed early as including accrued but unpaid wages. See Medical Finance Ass'n v. Rambo, 33 Cal. App.2d Supp. 756, 757, 86 P.2d 159, 160 (Sup. Ct. L.A., App. Dep't 1938) ("We are not to be understood as saying that the exemption would not also attach to the proceeds of his earnings in the judgment debtor's hands, so long as they could be identified as such. That question is not before us and we express no opinion on it."). In subsequent cases, the California courts at least sub silentio applied the wage exemption to a paycheck in the hands of the employee or deposited by him in a bank account. See Medical Finance Ass'n v. Short, 36 Cal. App.2d Supp. 745, 92 P.2d 961 (Sup. Ct. L.A., App. Dep't 1939) (W.P.A. worker's paycheck); Le Font v. Rankin, 167 Cal. App.2d 433, 334 P.2d 608 (1959) (bank account); Carter v. Carter, 55 Cal. App.2d 13, 130 P.2d 186 (1942) (bank accounts). However, elimination of the word "received" probably destroyed the ability of a debtor to continue such tracing. See Randone v. Appellate Department, 5 Cal.3d 536, 559 n.22, 488 P.2d 13, 28 n.22, 96 Cal. Rptr. 709, 724 n.22 (1971).

Retirement Funds

The federal restrictions on garnishment imposed by Title III also apply to "periodic payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program."⁴⁸ California law regarding such payments is less clear. As for payments held or in the process of distribution from public pension and retirement plans, subdivision (b) of Section 690.18 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides a complete and automatic exemption. As for similar payments held or in the process of distribution from certain private plans, subdivision (c) of that section seems to provide an exemption only from garnishment "in any bankruptcy proceeding." Moreover, the exemption must be claimed, and subdivision (c) purports to deny an exemption to moneys held under a Keogh Act plan. This denial conflicts, however, with the exemption provided such plans under Sections 28002 and 28005 of the Corporations Code.

The Commission recommends that Section 690.18 be revised to delete the reference to Keogh Act plans contained therein, thus resolving the conflict with the exemption provided in the Corporations Code. The Commission further recommends that a provision be added exempting periodic payments payable by a pension or retirement plan that are not otherwise exempt to the same extent that wages are exempt. Such provision would satisfy the federal restrictions imposed by Title III.

Finally, a provision should be added which makes clear that the exemptions provided in Section 690.18 are not exclusive and in no way limit similar, or overlapping, exemptions provided in other codes.

Wage Assignments

Section 300 of the Labor Code presently grants a valid prior voluntary wage assignment preference over subsequent assignments and levies of execution. Continuation of such a preference would permit a judgment debtor to give preference to one creditor and to defeat the claims of other creditors who seek to collect on their judgments under the proposed earnings withholding procedure. To integrate wage assignments with the operation of the latter procedure, the Commission recommends that a prior wage assignment be granted priority only until the end of the pay period during which an earnings withholding order is served. The operation of the earnings withholding order should be suspended during this period, thus permitting the debtor an opportunity to put his affairs in order. Such action may include revocation of the prior assignment. In this regard, wage assignments should be made revocable at will as to unearned wages. Thus, where an assignment becomes too onerous--for example, after service of an earnings withholding order--such an assignment may be revoked.

OPERATIVE DATE

In order to allow sufficient time for state and local public officials and the public to become familiar with the new law and to develop the necessary forms and procedures, the Commission recommends that the new statute become operative on July 1, 1973.

PROPOSED LEGISLATION

The Commission's recommendations would be effectuated by enactment of the following measure:

PREPRINT SENATE BILL No. 1

and to amend Section 11489 of the Welfare and Institutions Code,

An act to amend Section 4701 of the Civil Code, to amend Sections 682, 688, 690.6, 690.18, 690.50, and 710 of, to add Sections 690.5½, 690.7, and 690.7½ to, to add Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010) to Title 9 of Part 2 of, and to repeal Section 690.7 of, the Code of Civil Procedure, to repeal Section 15406 of the Financial Code, and to amend Sections ~~292~~ 300, ~~2922~~ and ~~2924~~ of, and to add Section ~~2929~~ ~~to~~ the Labor Code, relating to attachment, garnishment, and exemptions from execution.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

Attachment, garnishment, and execution.

Amends, adds, repeals, various secs., Civ.C., C.C.P., Fin.C., Lab.C.

Revises law relating to attachment, garnishment and execution, and adds new chapter to C.C.P., headed "Employees' Earnings Protection Law."

Vote—Majority; Appropriation—No; Fiscal Committee—Yes.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

- 1 SECTION 1. Section 4701 of the Civil Code is
- 2 amended to read:
- 3 4701. In any proceeding where the court has ordered
- 4 either or both parents to pay any amount for the support
- 5 of a minor child, the court may order either parent or
- 6 both parents to assign to the county clerk, probation

1 officer, or other officer of the court or county officer 2 designated by the court to receive such payment; that 3 portion of salary or wages of either parent due or to be 4 due in the future as will be sufficient to pay the amount 5 ordered by the court for the support, maintenance and 6 education of the minor child. Such order shall be binding 7 upon an employer upon the service of a copy of such 8 order upon such employer and until further order of the 9 court. The employer may deduct the sum of one dollar 10 ~~($1)~~ for each payment made pursuant to such order. Any 11 such order may be modified or revoked at any time by 12 the court. Any such assignment made pursuant to court 13 order shall have priority as against any attachment, 14 execution, or other assignment, unless otherwise ordered 15 by the court. In any proceeding where the court has 16 ordered a parent to pay any amount for the support, 17 maintenance, or education of a minor child, the court 18 may issue an earnings withholding order under Section 19 723.030 of the Code of Civil Procedure for the amount so 20 ordered. The withholding order may require the parent's 21 employer to pay the withheld earnings to the county 22 clerk, probation officer, or other officer of the court, to a 23 county officer, to the person having custody of the child, 24 or to such other person as is specified in the order to 25 receive such payment.

26 SEC. 2. Section 682 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 27 amended to read:

28 682. The writ of execution must be issued in the name 29 of the people, sealed with the seal of the court, and 30 subscribed by the clerk or judge, and be directed to the 31 sheriff, constable, or marshal, and it must intelligibly 32 refer to the judgment, stating the court, the county, and 33 in municipal and justice courts, the judicial district, 34 where the judgment is entered, and if it be for money, the 35 amount thereof, and the amount actually due thereon, 36 and if made payable in a specified kind of money or 37 currency, as provided in Section 667, the execution must 38 also state the kind of money or currency in which the 39 judgment is payable, and must require the officer to 40 whom it is directed to proceed substantially as follows:

1 1. If it be against the property of the judgment debtor, 2 it must require such officer to satisfy the judgment, with 3 interest, out of the personal property of such debtor, or 4 if it is against the earnings of such debtor, only one half 5 of such earnings of the judgment debtor received for his 6 personal services rendered at any time within 30 days 7 next preceding such levy shall be subject thereto, out of 8 the earnings subject to execution under subdivision (e) of 9 Section 690.5½ and subdivision (c) of Section 690.6, and 10 if sufficient personal property cannot be found, then out 11 of his real property; or if the judgment be a lien upon real 12 property, then out of the real property belonging to him 13 on the day when the abstract of judgment was filed as 14 provided in Section 674 of this code, or at any time 15 thereafter.

16 2. If it be against real or personal property in the hands 17 of the personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, 18 tenants, or trustees, it must require such officer to satisfy 19 the judgment, with interest, out of such property.

20 3. If it be against the person of the judgment debtor, 21 it must require such officer to arrest such debtor and 22 commit him to the jail of the county until he pay the 23 judgment, with interest, or be discharged according to 24 law.

25 4. If it be issued on a judgment made payable in a 26 specified kind of money or currency, as provided in 27 Section 667, it must also require such officer to satisfy the 28 same in the kind of money or currency in which the 29 judgment is made payable, and such officer must refuse 30 payment in any other kind of money or currency; and in 31 case of levy and sale of the property of the judgment 32 debtor, he must refuse payment from any purchaser at 33 such sale in any other kind of money or currency than 34 that specified in the execution. Any such officer 35 collecting money or currency in the manner required by 36 this chapter, must pay to the plaintiff or party entitled to 37 recover the same, the same kind of money or currency 38 received by him, and in case of neglect or refusal to do 39 so, he shall be liable on his official bond to the judgment 40 creditor in three times the amount of the money so

1 collected.

2 5. If it be for the delivery of the possession of real or 3 personal property, it must require such officer to deliver 4 the possession of the same, describing it, to the party 5 entitled thereto, and may at the same time require such 6 officer to satisfy any costs, damages, rents, or profits 7 recovered by the same judgment, out of the personal 8 property of the person against whom it was rendered, 9 and the value of the property for which the judgment was 10 rendered to be specified therein if a delivery thereof 11 cannot be had; and if sufficient personal property cannot 12 be found, then out of the real property, as provided in the 13 first subdivision of this section.

14 SEC. 3. Section 688 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 15 amended to read:

16 688. Except as provided in Chapter 2.5 (commencing 17 with Section 723.010) :

18 (a) All goods, chattels, moneys or other property, both 19 real and personal, or any interest therein, of the 20 judgment debtor, not exempt by law, ~~except as provided~~ 21 ~~for in Section 690.6~~; and all property and rights of 22 property seized and held under attachment in the action, 23 are ~~liable~~ subject to execution.

24 (b) Shares and interests in any corporation or 25 company, and debts and credits, and all other property, 26 both real and personal, or any interest in either real or 27 personal property, and all other property not capable of 28 manual delivery, may be levied upon or released from 29 levy in like manner as like property may be attached or 30 released from attachment, except that a copy of the 31 complaint in the action from which the writ issued need 32 not accompany the writ; provided, that no cause of action 33 nor judgment as such, nor license issued by this state to 34 engage in any business, profession, or activity shall be 35 subject to levy or sale on execution. ~~Gold dust must be~~ 36 ~~returned by the officer as so much money collected at its~~ 37 ~~current value, without exposing the same to sale.~~

38 (c) Until a levy, the property is not affected by the 39 execution; but no levy shall bind any property for a longer 40 period than one year from the date of the issuance of the 1 execution, except a levy on the interests or claims of heirs, 2 devisees, or legatees in or to assets of deceased persons 3 remaining in the hands of executors or administrators, 4 thereof prior to distribution and payment. However, an 5 alias execution may be issued on said judgment and 6 levied on any property not exempt from execution.

7 SEC. 4. Section 690.5½ is added to the Code of Civil 8 Procedure, to read:

9 690.5½. (a) As used in this section, "earnings" means 10 compensation paid or payable by an employer to an 11 employee for personal services performed by such 12 employee whether denominated as wages, salary, 13 commission, bonus, or otherwise.

14 (b) All earnings of the debtor which are due or owing 15 to him are exempt from levy of attachment and execution 16 without filing a claim for exemption as provided in 17 Section 690.50 and are subject to levy only by means of an 18 earnings withholding order in the manner and to the 19 extent provided in Chapter 2.5 (commencing with 20 Section 723.010).

21 (c) All earnings of the debtor which have been paid to 22 him and are in his possession in a form identified by the 23 levying officer as earnings are exempt from levy of 24 attachment without filing a claim for exemption as 25 provided in Section 690.50.

26 (d) All earnings of the debtor which have been paid to 27 him and are retained in the form in which paid or as cash 28 but which are not identified by the levying officer as 29 earnings are exempt from levy of attachment.

30 (e) The earnings of the debtor for his pay period 31 immediately preceding the levy which have been paid to 32 him and are retained in the form in which paid or as cash 33 are subject to levy of execution only in an amount not to 34 exceed the maximum amount of such earnings that could 35 be withheld by his employer under Section 723.050 less 36 any amounts withheld from such earnings by the debtor's 37 employer pursuant to any earnings withholding order.

38 (f) Such additional portion of the earnings described 39 in subdivision (e) which a debtor proves is essential for

2 (g) A levying officer is not liable for any injury 3 resulting from any identification or misidentification of 4 assets made pursuant to this section, whether or not such 5 identification or misidentification be negligent, unless he 6 is guilty of actual fraud, corruption, or actual malice.

7 SEC. 5. Section 690.6 of the Code of Civil Procedure
8 is amended to read:

9 690.6. (a) As used in this section, "earnings" means 10 those earnings not included within the definition of 11 "earnings" stated in subdivision (a) of Section 690.5½.

Ital. 12 (b) ~~All~~ the earnings of the debtor due or owing for his 13 personal services shall be exempt from levy of 14 attachment without filing a claim for exemption as 15 provided in Section 690.50.

16 ~~(b)~~

17 (c) One-half or such greater portion as is allowed by 18 statute of the United States, of the earnings of the debtor 19 due or owing for his personal services rendered at any 20 time within 30 days next preceding the levy of execution 21 shall be exempt from execution without filing a claim for 22 exemption as provided in Section 690.50.

23 ~~(c)~~ All of such earnings, if necessary for the use of the 24 debtor's family residing in this state and supported in 25 whole or in part by the debtor, unless the debts are:

26 ~~(1)~~ Incurred by the debtor, his wife, or his family for 27 the common necessities of life.

28 ~~(2)~~ Incurred for personal services rendered by any 29 employee or former employee of the debtor.

30 (d) Such additional portion of his earnings which a 31 debtor proves is essential for the support of himself or his 32 family shall be exempt from levy of execution.

33 (e) The court shall determine the priority and division 34 of payment among all of the creditors of a debtor who 35 have levied an execution upon nonexempt earnings upon 36 such basis as is just and equitable.

37 ~~(e)~~

38 (f) Any creditor, upon motion, shall be entitled to a 39 hearing in the court in which the action is pending or 40 from which the writ issued for the purpose of 1 determining the priority and division of payment among 2 all the creditors of the debtor who have levied an 3 execution upon nonexempt earnings pursuant to this 4 section.

5 SEC. 6. Section 690.7 of the Code of Civil Procedure
6 is repealed.

7 ~~690.7. (a) To the maximum aggregate value of one 8 thousand dollars ($1,000), any combination of the 9 following: savings deposits in; shares or other accounts in; 10 or shares of stock of; any state or federal savings and loan 11 association; "savings deposits" shall include "investment 12 certificates" and "withdrawable shares" as defined in 13 Section 5061 and 5067 of the Financial Code, respectively.~~

14 ~~(b) Such exemption set forth in subdivision (a) shall 15 be a maximum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) per 16 person, whether the character of the property be 17 separate or community.~~

18 SEC. 7. Section 690.7 is added to the Code of Civil 19 Procedure, to read:

20 690.7. (a) As used in this section, "debtor" includes 21 an individual, corporation, partnership, or 22 unincorporated association. For the purposes of this 23 section, a husband and wife shall be treated as one 24 individual except (1) after the rendition of a judgment 25 decreeing their legal separation) or (2) while they are 26 living separate and apart after the rendition of an 27 interlocutory judgment of dissolution of their marriage.

28 (b) As used in this section, "deposit account" means
29 any of the following:

30 (1) A deposit or account in any "bank" described in 31 Section 102 of the Financial Code.

32 (2) A savings deposit in, share or other account in, or 33 share of stock of any state or federal savings and loan
34 association. As used in this paragraph, "savings deposit"
35 includes "investment certificate" and "withdrawable 36 share" as defined in Sections 5061 and 5067 of the 37 Financial Code.

38 (3) A share or certificate for funds received of the 39 member of a credit union and all the accumulation on 40 such share or certificate.

1 (c) A deposit account owned by a debtor is exempt
2 from attachment to the extent of the lesser of (1) five 3 hundred dollars ($500) or (2) the amount by which five 4 hundred dollars ($500) exceeds the amounts in all other
5 deposit accounts owned by the debtor on the date of levy.

6 (d) A deposit account owned by a debtor is exempt
7 from attachment in the amount essential for the support 8 of the debtor or his family or essential for the 9 maintenance and continuance of his business.

10 (e) Any debtor claiming an exemption under this 11 section shall list in his claim for exemption under Section 12 690.50 all deposit accounts standing in his name whether 13 alone or with others and all amounts held in such 14 accounts on the date of the levy.

15 (f) For the purposes of this section, it shall be 16 presumed that all amounts in all deposit accounts 17 standing in the name of the debtor either alone or with 18 others are owned by the debtor. The presumption 19 established by this subdivision is a presumption affecting 20 the burden of proof.

21 (g) The exemptions provided by this section are not 22 applicable where the attachment is sought to enforce a 23 court order for the support of any person or to collect a 24 state tax liability as that term is defined in paragraph (2)
25 of subdivision (a) of Section 723.031.

26 (h) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a
27 banker under Section 3054 of the Civil Code.

28 (i) The exemptions provided by this section are 29 exclusive. A debtor may claim no greater amount is 30 exempt by showing that such amount was derived from 31 his earnings or any other source.

32 SEC. 8. Section 690.7½ is added to the Code of Civil 33 Procedure, to read:

34 690.7½. (a) As used in this section, "debtor" means 35 an individual and does not include a corporation, 36 partnership, or unincorporated association. For the 37 purposes of this section, a husband and wife shall be 38 treated as one individual except (1) after the rendition of 39 a judgment decreeing their legal separation or (2) while 40 they are living separate and apart after the rendition of 1 an interlocutory judgment of dissolution of their 2 marriage.

3 (b) As used in this section, "deposit account" means
4 any of the following:

5 (1) A deposit or account in any "bank" described in 6 Section 102 of the Financial Code.

7 (2) A savings deposit in, share or other account in, or 8 share of stock of any state or federal savings and loan
9 association. As used in this paragraph, "savings deposit"
10 includes "investment certificate" and "withdrawable
12 Financial Code.

13 (3) A share or certificate for funds received of the 14 member of a credit union and all the accumulation on 15 such share or certificate.

16 (c) A deposit account owned by a debtor is exempt 17 from execution to the extent of the lesser of (1) five 18 hundred dollars ($500) or (2) the amount by which five 19 hundred dollars ($500) exceeds the amounts in all other 20 deposit accounts owned by the debtor on the date of levy.

21 (d) A deposit account owned by a debtor is exempt 22 from execution in the amount essential for the support of 23 the debtor or his family.

24 (e) Any debtor claiming an exemption under this 25 section shall list in his claim for exemption under Section 26 690.50 all deposit accounts standing in his name whether 27 alone or with others and all amounts held in such 28 accounts on the date of the levy.

29 (f) For the purposes of this section, it shall be 30 presumed that all amounts in all deposit accounts
31 standing in the name of the debtor either alone or with 32 others are owned by the debtor. The presumption 33 established by this subdivision is a presumption affecting 34 the burden of proof.

35 (g) The exemptions provided by this section are not 36 applicable where the execution is sought to enforce a 37 court order for the support of any person or to collect a
38 state tax liability as that term is defined in paragraph (2)
39 of subdivision (a) of Section 723.031.

40 (h) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of a

1 banker under Section 3054 of the Civil Code.

2 (i) The exemptions provided by this section are 3 exclusive. A debtor may claim no greater amount is 4 exempt by showing that such amount was derived from 5 his earnings or any other source.

6 SEC. 9. Section 690.18 of the Code of Civil Procedure
7 is amended to read:

8 690.18. (a) All money received by any person, a 9 resident of the state, as a pension, or as an annuity or 10 retirement or disability or death or other benefit, or as a 11 return of contributions and interest thereon, from the 12 United States government, or from the state, or any 13 county, city, or city and county, or other political 14 subdivision of the state, or any public trust, or public 15 corporation, or from the governing body of any of them, 16 or from any public board or boards, or from any 17 retirement, disability, or annuity system established by 18 any of them pursuant to statute, whether the same shall 19 be in the actual possession of such pensioner or 20 beneficiary, or deposited by him.

21 (b) All money held, controlled, or in process of 22 distribution by the state, or a city, city and county, 23 county, or other political subdivision of the state, or any 24 public trust or public corporation, or the governing body 25 of any of them, or by any public board or boards, derived 26 from the contributions by the state or such city, county, 27 city and county, or other political subdivision, or such 28 public trust, public corporation, governing body, or 29 public board or boards, or by any officer or employee 30 thereof, for retirement or pension purposes or the 31 payment of disability, death, or other benefits, or the 32 payment of benefits payable to, or the reimbursement of 33 benefits paid to, employees thereof under the provisions 34 of the Unemployment Insurance Code, and all rights and 35 benefits accrued or accruing to any person under any 36 system established pursuant to statute by the state, city, 37 city and county, county, or other political subdivision of 38 the state, or any public trust or public corporation for 39 retirement, annuity, or pension purposes or payment of 40 disability or death benefits, and all vacation credits

1 accumulated by a state employee pursuant to the 2 provisions of Section 18050 of the Government Code, or 3 any other public employee pursuant to any law for the 4 accumulation of vacation credits applicable to such 5 employee. Such moneys, benefits, and credits shall be 6 exempt without filing a claim of exemption as provided 7 in Section 690.50.

8 (c) All money held, controlled, or in process of 9 distribution by any private retirement plan, including, 10 but not limited to, union retirement plans, or any 11 profit-sharing plan designed and used for retirement 12 purposes, or the payment of benefits as an annuity, 13 pension, retirement allowance, disability payment or 14 death benefit from such retirement or profit-sharing 15 plans, and all contributions and interest thereon returned 16 to any member of any such retirement or profit-sharing 17 plan, are exempt from execution, attachment, or 18 garnishment in any bankruptcy proceeding. This 19 subdivision shall not apply to any moneys held in any 20 retirement program established pursuant to the federal 21 "Self-Employed Individuals Tax Retirement Act of 1962" 22 (P.L. 87-702; 76 Stat. 809); nor to any moneys received in 23 any manner by persons from any such retirement 24 program so established.

25 (d) All periodic payments payable by a pension or 26 retirement plan that are not otherwise exempt by law are 27 exempt from levy of execution in the amount that is 28 exempted by Section 723.050 without filing a claim for 29 exemption as provided in Section 690.50.

30 (e) Nothing in this section limits the applicability of 31 any exemption otherwise provided by statute.

32 SEC. 10. Section 690.50 of the Code of Civil Procedure
33 is amended to read:

34 690.50. (a) If the property mentioned in Sections 35 690.1 to 690.29, inclusive, shall be levied upon under writ 36 of attachment or execution, the defendant or judgment 37 debtor (herein referred to as "the debtor"), in order to 38 avail himself of his exemption rights as to such property, 39 shall within 10 days from the date such property was 40 levied upon deliver to the levying officer an affidavit of

1 himself or his agent, together with a copy thereof, 2 alleging that the property levied upon, identifying it, is 3 exempt, specifying the section or sections of this code on 4 which he relies for his claim to exemption, and all facts 5 necessary to support his claim, and also stating therein his 6 address within this state for the purpose of permitting 7 service by mail upon him of the counteraffidavit and any 8 notice of the motion herein provided.

9 (b) Forthwith upon receiving the affidavit of 10 exemption, the levying officer shall serve upon the 11 plaintiff or the person in whose favor the writ runs 12 (herein referred to as "the creditor"), either personally 13 or by mail, a copy of the affidavit of exemption, together 14 with a writing, signed by the levying officer, stating that 15 the claim to exemption has been received and that the 16 officer will release the property unless he receives from 17 the creditor a counteraffidavit within five days after 18 service of such writing.

19 (c) If the creditor desires to contest the claim to 20 exemption, he shall, within such period of five days, file 21 with the levying officer a counteraffidavit alleging that 22 the property is not exempt within the meaning of the 23 section or sections of this code relied upon, or if the claim 24 to exemption be based on Sections 690.2, 690.3, 690.4, 25 690.5½, 690.6, 690.7, 690.7½, 690.18, alleging that the 26 value of the property claimed to be exempt is in excess 27 of the value stated in the applicable section or sections, 28 together with proof of service of a copy of such 29 counteraffidavit upon the debtor.

30 (d) If no such counteraffidavit, with such proof of 31 service, is so filed with the levying officer within the time 32 allowed, the officer shall forthwith release the property.

33 (e) If such counteraffidavit, with such proof of service, 34 is so filed, either the creditor or the debtor shall be 35 entitled to a hearing in the court in which the action is 36 pending or from which the writ issued for the purpose of 37 determining the claim to exemption, the priority or 38 division of payment between one or more creditors from 39 nonexempt earnings under the provisions of Section 690.6
40 or the value of the property claimed to be exempt. Such

1 hearing shall be granted by the court upon motion of 2 either party made within five days after the 3 counteraffidavit is filed with the levying officer, and such 4 hearing must be had within 15 days from the date of the 5 making of such motion unless continued by the court for 6 good cause. The party making the motion for hearing 7 shall give not less than five days' notice in writing of such 8 hearing to the levying officer and to the other party, and 9 specify therein that the hearing is for the purpose of 10 determining the claim to exemption. The notice may be 11 of motion or of hearing and upon the filing of the notice 12 with the clerk of court, the motion is deemed made.

13 (f) If neither party makes such motion within the time 14 allowed, or if the levying officer shall not have been 15 served with a copy of the notice of hearing within 10 days 16 after the filing of the counteraffidavit, the levying officer 17 shall forthwith release the property to the debtor.

18 (g) At any time while the proceedings are pending, 19 upon motion of either party or upon its own motion, the 20 court may (1) order the sale of any perishable property 21 held by such officer and direct disposition of the proceeds 22 of such sale, and (2) make such other orders as may be 23 proper under the particular circumstances of the case.
24 Any orders so made may be modified or vacated by the 25 court or judge granting the same, or by the court in which 26 the proceedings are pending, at any time during the 27 pendency of the proceedings, upon such terms as may be 28 just.

29 (h) The levying officer in all cases shall retain physical 30 possession of the property levied upon if it is capable of 31 physical possession, or in the case of property not capable 32 of physical possession, the levy shall remain in full force 33 and effect, pending the final determination of the claim 34 to exemption. However, no sale under execution shall be 35 had prior to such final determination unless an order of 36 the court hearing the claim for exemption shall so 37 provide.

38 (i) At such hearing, the party claiming the exemption 39 shall have the burden of proof. The affidavits and 40 counteraffidavits shall be filed by the levying officer with

— 14 —

1 the court and shall constitute the pleadings, subject to the 2 power of the court to permit an amendment in the 3 interests of justice. The affidavit of exemption shall be 4 deemed controverted by the counteraffidavit and both 5 shall be received in evidence. Nothing herein shall be 6 construed to deprive anyone of the right to a jury trial in 7 any case where, by the Constitution, such right is given, 8 but a jury trial may be waived in any such case in like 9 manner as in the trial of an action. No findings shall be 10 required in a proceeding under this section. When the 11 hearing is before the court sitting without a jury, and no 12 evidence other than the affidavit and counteraffidavit is 13 offered, the court, if satisfied that sufficient facts are 14 shown thereby, may make its determination thereon.
15 Otherwise, it shall order the hearing continued for the 16 production of other evidence, oral or documentary, or 17 the filing of other affidavits and counteraffidavits. At the 18 conclusion of the hearing, the court shall give judgment 19 determining whether the claim to exemption shall be 20 allowed or not, in whole or in part, and may give 21 judgment determining the priority or division of 22 payment between one or more creditors from 23 nonexempt earnings under the provisions of Section 24 690.6, which judgment shall be determinative as to the 25 right of the creditor to have the property taken and held 26 by the officer or to subject the property to payment or 27 other satisfaction of his judgment. In such judgment the 28 court shall make all proper orders for the disposition of 29 such property or the proceeds thereof.

30 (j) A copy of any judgment entered in the trial court 31 shall be forthwith transmitted by the clerk to the levying 32 officer in order to permit such officer to either release the 33 property attached or to continue to hold it to sell it, in 34 accordance with the provisions of the writ previously 35 delivered to him. Such officer, unless an appeal from the 36 judgment is waived, or the judgment has otherwise 37 become final, shall continue to hold such property under 38 attachment or execution, continuing the sale of any 39 property held under execution until such judgment 40 becomes final. However, if a claim to exemption under

1 Section 690.5½ or 690.6 is allowed by such judgment, the 2 debtor shall be entitled to a release of the earnings so 3 exempted at the expiration of three days, unless 4 otherwise ordered by the court, or unless the levying 5 officer shall have been served with a copy of a notice of 6 appeal from the judgment.

7 (k) When any documents required hereunder are 8 served by mail, the provisions of this code relating to 9 service by mail shall be applicable thereto.

10 (l) Whenever the time allowed for an act to be done 11 hereunder is extended by the court, written notice 12 thereof shall be given promptly to the opposing party, 13 unless such notice be waived, and to the levying officer.

14 (m) An appeal lies from any judgment under this 15 section. Such appeal to be taken in the manner provided 16 for appeals in the court in which the proceeding is had.

17 SEC. 11. Section 710 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 18 amended to read:

19 710. (a) Whenever a judgment for the payment of 20 money is rendered by any court of this state against a 21 defendant to whom money is owing and unpaid by this 22 state or by any county, city and county, city or 23 municipality, quasi-municipality, district or public 24 corporation, the judgment creditor may file a duly 25 authenticated abstract or transcript of such judgment 26 together with an affidavit stating the exact amount then 27 due, owing and unpaid thereon and that he desires to 28 avail himself of the provisions of this section in the 29 manner as follows:

30 1. If such money ; ~~wages or salary~~ is owing and unpaid 31 by this state to such judgment debtor, said judgment 32 creditor shall file said abstract or transcript and affidavit 33 with the state department, board, office or commission 34 owing such money ; ~~wages or salary~~ to said judgment 35 debtor prior to the time such state department, board, 36 office or commission presents the claim of such judgment 37 debtor therefor to the State Controller or to the State 38 Personnel Board. Said state department, board, office or 39 commission in presenting such claim of such judgment 40 debtor to said State Controller shall note thereunder the

1 fact that of the filing of such abstract or transcript and 2 affidavit and state the amount unpaid on said judgment 3 as shown by said affidavit and shall also note any amounts 4 advanced to the judgment debtor by, or which the 5 judgment debtor owes to, the State of California by 6 reason of advances for expenses or for any other purpose.
7 Thereupon the State Controller, to discharge such claim 8 of such judgment debtor, shall pay into the court which 9 issued such abstract or transcript by his warrant or check 10 payable to said court the whole or such portion of the 11 amount due such judgment debtor on such claim, after 12 deducting from such claim an amount sufficient to 13 reimburse the state department, board, ~~officer office~~ or 14 commission for any amounts advanced to said judgment 15 debtor or by him owed to the State of California, ~~and after~~ 16 ~~deducting therefrom an amount equal to one-half or such~~ 17 ~~greater portion as is allowed by statute of the United~~ 18 ~~States; of the earnings owing to the judgment debtor for~~ 19 ~~his personal services to the state rendered at any time~~
20 ~~within 30 days next preceding the filing of such abstract~~
21 ~~or transcript; as will satisfy in full or to the greatest extent~~ 22 the amount unpaid on said judgment and the balance
23 thereof, if any, to the judgment debtor.

24 2. If such money ; wages or salary is owing and unpaid
25 to such judgment debtor by any county, city and county, 26 city or municipality, quasi-municipality, district or public 27 corporation, said judgment creditor shall file said abstract 28 or transcript and affidavit with the auditor of such 29 county, city and county, city or municipality, 30 quasi-municipality, district or public corporation (and in 31 case there be no auditor then with the official whose duty 32 corresponds to that of auditor). Thereupon said auditor 33 (or other official) to discharge such claim of such 34 judgment debtor shall pay into the court which issued 35 such abstract or transcript by his warrant or check 36 payable to said court the whole or such portion of the 37 amount due on such claim of such judgment debtor ; less 38 ~~an amount equal to one-half or such greater portion as is~~ 39 ~~allowed by statute of the United States; of the earnings of~~ 40 the debtor owing by the county; city and county; city;

1 municipality, quasi/municipality, district or public
2 corporation to the judgment debtor for his personal 3 services to such public body rendered at any time within 4 30 days next preceding the filing of such abstract or 5 transcript, as will satisfy in full or to the greatest extent
6 the amount unpaid on said judgment and the balance
7 thereof, if any, to the judgment debtor.

8 (b) The judgment creditor upon filing such abstract or 9 transcript and affidavit shall pay a fee of two dollars and 10 fifty cents ($2.50) to the person or agency with whom the 11 same is filed.

12 (c) Whenever a court receives any money hereunder, 13 it shall pay as much thereof as is not exempt from 14 execution under this code to the judgment creditor and 15 the balance thereof, if any, to the judgment debtor. The 16 procedure for determining the claim of exemption shall 17 be governed by the procedure set forth in ~~690.26~~ of this 18 code Section 690.50.

19 (d) In the event the moneys owing to a judgment 20 debtor by any governmental agency mentioned in this 21 section are owing by reason of an award made in a 22 condemnation proceeding brought by the governmental 23 agency, such governmental agency may pay the amount 24 of the award to the clerk of the court in which such 25 condemnation proceeding was tried, and shall file 26 therewith the abstract or transcript of judgment and the 27 affidavit filed with it by the judgment creditor. Such 28 payment into court shall constitute payment of the 29 condemnation award within the meaning of Section 1251
30 of this code. Upon such payment into court and the filing 31 with the county clerk of such abstract or transcript of 32 judgment and affidavit, the county clerk shall notify by 33 mail, through their attorneys, if any, all parties interested 34 in said award of the time and place at which the court 35 which tried the condemnation proceeding will 36 determine the conflicting claims to said award. At said 37 time and place the court shall make such determination 38 and order the distribution of the money held by the 39 county clerk in accordance therewith.

40 (e) The judgment creditor may state in the affidavit

Section 690.50 of this code and the court rendering the judgment shall be considered the levying officer for the purpose of that section.

1 any fact or facts tending to establish the identity of the 2 judgment debtor. No public officer or employee shall be 3 liable for failure to perform any duty imposed by this 4 section unless sufficient information is furnished by the 5 abstract or transcript together with the affidavit to enable 6 him in the exercise of reasonable diligence to ascertain 7 such identity therefrom and from the papers and records 8 on file in the office in which he works. The word "office" 9 as used herein does not include any branch or 10 subordinate office located in a different city.

11 (f) ~~Nothing in this section shall authorize the filing of~~ 12 ~~any abstract or transcript and affidavit against any wages,~~
 13 ~~or salary owing to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor,~~
 14 ~~Secretary of State, Comptroller, Treasurer, and Attorney~~ 15 ~~General.~~

16 ~~(g) Any fees received by a state agency under this~~ 17 ~~section shall be deposited to the credit of the fund from~~ 18 ~~which payments were, or would be, made on account of~~ 19 ~~a garnishment under this section. For the purpose of this~~ 20 ~~paragraph, payments from the State Pay Roll Revolving~~ 21 ~~Fund shall be deemed payments made from the fund out~~ 22 ~~of which moneys to meet such payments were~~ 23 ~~transferred to said revolving fund.~~

24 (g) This section does not authorize the withholding of 25 earnings of a public employee. The earnings of a public 26 employee may be withheld only pursuant to Chapter 2.5
 27 (commencing with Section 723.010).

all in strike out

(h) (1) In the event the moneys owing to a judgment debtor by any governmental agency mentioned in this section are for wages or salary, the judgment creditor shall mail under a separate cover at the time of filing the affidavit with the governmental agency, in an envelope marked "Personal and Confidential", a copy of the affidavit and a Notice to Judgment Debtor as provided in paragraph (2) of this subdivision, addressed to the judgment debtor at his place of employment.

(2) The Notice to Judgment Debtor shall be in 10-point bold type, and in substantially the following form:

You may be entitled to file a claim exempting your salary or wages from execution. You may seek the advice of any attorney or may, within 10 days from the date your salary or wages were levied upon, deliver an affidavit to the court rendering the judgment to exempt such salary or wages, as provided in Section 690.50 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

28 SEC. 12. Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 29 723.010) is added to Title 9 of Part 2 of the Code of Civil 30 Procedure, to read:

31
 32 CHAPTER 2.5. EMPLOYEES' EARNINGS PROTECTION

34
 35 Article 1. Definitions

36 37 723.010. This chapter shall be known and may be 38 cited as the "Employees' Earnings Protection Law."

39 723.011. As used in this chapter:

40 (a) "Earnings" means compensation payable by an

1 employer to an employee for personal services 2 performed by such employee whether denominated as 3 wages, salary, commission, bonus, or otherwise.

4 (b) "Employee" means an individual who performs 5 services subject to the control of an employer as to both 6 what shall be done and how it shall be done.

7 (c) "Employer" means a person for whom an 8 individual performs services as an employee.

9 (d) "Judgment" includes a support order.

10 (e) "Judgment creditor" means the person in favor of 11 whom a judgment is rendered and includes his 12 representative. As applied to the state, "judgment 13 creditor" means the specific state agency seeking to 14 collect a judgment or tax liability.

15 (f) "Judgment debtor" means the person against 16 whom a judgment is rendered.

17 (g) "Person" includes an individual, a corporation, a 18 partnership or other unincorporated association, and a

Article 2. General Provisions

25 723.020. The earnings of an employee shall not be 26 required to be withheld for payment of a debt by means 27 of any judicial procedure other than pursuant to the 28 provisions of this chapter.

29 723.021. A levy upon the earnings of a judgment 30 debtor shall be made by an earnings withholding order, 31 directed to this employer, in accordance with this 32 chapter.

33 723.022. (a) As used in this section, "withholding 34 period" means the period which commences on the fifth 35 day after service of an earnings withholding order upon 36 the employer and which continues until the first of the 37 following dates:

38 (1) The 125th day after the order was served.

39 (2) The date of termination requested by the creditor 40 or ordered by the court.

1 (3) The date the employer has withheld the full 2 amount specified in the order.

3 (b) Except as otherwise provided by statute, an 4 employer shall withhold the amounts required by an 5 earnings withholding order from all earnings of the 6 employee payable for any pay period of such employee 7 which ends during the withholding period.

8 (c) Notwithstanding subdivision (b), an employer 9 shall cease withholding pursuant to an earnings 10 withholding order whenever he is served with a certified 11 copy of a satisfaction of the judgment upon which the 12 order is based.

13 (d) An employer is not liable for any amounts 14 withheld and paid over to a judgment creditor pursuant 15 to an earnings withholding order prior to service upon 16 the employer of a written notice of termination of such 17 order or a certified copy of a satisfaction of the judgment 18 upon which the order is based.

19 (e) For the purposes of this section, service shall be 20 paper deemed complete on the date the document served is 21 actually first received at either the branch or office 22 where the employee works or the office from which he 23 is paid.

24 723.023. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this 25 chapter:

26 (1) An employer shall comply with the first 27 is served with withholding order which he receives served upon him.

28 (2) If the employer receives two or more orders on the 29 same day, he shall comply with the order issued pursuant 30 to the judgment first entered. If two or more orders 31 served received on the same day are also based on judgments 32 entered upon the same day, the employer shall comply 33 with whichever one of such orders he selects.

34 (3) If an earnings withholding order is received served 35 during the period that an employer is required to comply 36 with another earnings withholding order for the same 37 judgment debtor, the employer shall not withhold 38 earnings pursuant to the subsequent order.

39 (b) For the purposes of this section, an earnings 40 withholding order is received service of on the date it is actually shall be deemed complete

1 first received at either the branch or office where the 2 employee works or the office from which he is paid.

3 723.024. Each time an employer makes a deduction
4 from an employee's earnings pursuant to an earnings 5 withholding order, he may make an additional deduction 6 of one dollar ($1) and retain it as a charge for his services 7 in complying with the earnings withholding order.

8 723.025. (a) The amount required to be withheld 9 pursuant to an earnings withholding order shall be paid 10 to the person specified in the order within 15 days after 11 each payment of earnings is made to the employee unless 12 the employer elects to pay in regular monthly payments 13 made not later than the 15th day of each month. In the 14 latter case, the initial monthly payment shall include all 15 amounts required to be withheld from the earnings of the 16 employee during the preceding calendar month up to 17 the close of the employee's pay period ending closest to 18 the last day of that month, and thereafter each monthly 19 payment shall include amounts withheld from the 20 employee's earnings for services rendered in the interim 21 up to the close of the employee's pay period ending 22 closest to the last day of the preceding calendar month.

23 (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (a), 24 an employer is not required to pay over an amount 25 withheld until the accumulated amount that has been 26 withheld and not paid over equals or exceeds ten dollars 27 ($10) unless it appears that no additional money will be 28 withheld from the employee's earnings pursuant to the 29 particular earnings withholding order.

30 723.026. Within 35 days after he receives any payment 31 pursuant to an earnings withholding order, the judgment 32 creditor shall send the judgment debtor a receipt for such 33 payment by first class mail.

34 723.027. If the judgment pursuant to which the 35 earnings withholding order is issued is satisfied prior to 36 the end of the withholding period provided in Section 37 723.022, the judgment creditor shall promptly file a 38 satisfaction of judgment in the court which issued such 39 order and shall send a certified copy of such satisfaction 40 to the judgment debtor's employer.

1 723.028. Subject to Section 723.109, after the amount 2 stated as owing in the earnings withholding order is paid, 3 the judgment creditor may apply for issuance of another 4 earnings withholding order covering costs and interest 5 that may have accrued since application for the prior 6 order.

7 723.029. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this 8 chapter, an employer who complies with any written 9 order or written notice which purports to be given or 10 served in accordance with the provisions of this chapter 11 is not subject to any civil or criminal liability for such 12 compliance unless he has actively participated in a fraud.

set

723.029. Service of an earnings withholding order creates a lien upon the earnings required to be withheld pursuant to such order. Such lien shall continue for a period of one year from the date such earnings became payable.

13 723.030. (a) A "withholding order for support" is an 14 earnings withholding order to enforce a court order for 15 the support of any person. A withholding order for 16 support shall be denoted as such on its face.

17 (b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this 18 chapter:

19 (1) The restrictions on earnings withholding 20 contained in Section 723.050 do not apply to a 21 withholding order for support.

22 (2) An employer shall continue to withhold pursuant 23 to a withholding order for support until it expires by its 24 terms or the court orders its termination.

25 (3) An employer who receives a withholding order for 26 support shall withhold and pay over earnings of the 27 employee pursuant to such order even though he is 28 already required to comply with another earnings 29 withholding order.

30 (4) An employer shall withhold earnings of an 31 employee pursuant to both a withholding order for 32 support and another earnings withholding order 33 simultaneously. The amount to be withheld under the 34 withholding order for support shall be deducted first 35 from the earnings of the employee; the amount to be 36 withheld pursuant to the other withholding order shall 37 then be computed, based on the earnings remaining after 38 this deduction.

39 723.031. (a) As used in this section:

40 (1) "State" means the State of California and includes

1 any officer, department, board, or agency thereof.

2 (2) "State tax liability" means a liability, including any 3 penalties and accrued interest and costs, for which the 4 state would be authorized to issue (i) a warrant pursuant 5 to Section 1785 of the Unemployment Insurance Code, or 6 Section 6776, 7881, 9001, 10111, 16071, 18906, 26191, 30341,
7 or 32365 of the Revenue and Taxation Code or (ii) a 8 notice or order to withhold pursuant to Section 1755 of 9 the Unemployment Insurance Code, or Section 6702, 10 7851, 8952, 10051, 11451, 16101, 18807, 26132, 30311, or 11 32381 of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

12 (b) A "withholding order for taxes" is one issued 13 pursuant to this section and shall be denoted as such on 14 its face.

15 (c) A withholding order for taxes may be issued 16 whether or not the state tax liability has been reduced to 17 judgment.

18 (d) A withholding order for taxes may only be issued 19 where the existence of the state tax liability either 20 appears on the face of the taxpayer's return or has been 21 determined in either an administrative or judicial 22 proceeding in which the taxpayer had notice and an 23 opportunity to be heard. No review of the taxpayer's tax 24 liability shall be permitted in proceedings under this 25 section.

26 (e) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the 27 provisions of this chapter shall apply to a withholding 28 order for taxes and shall govern the procedures and 29 proceedings concerning such order.

30 (f) The following special provisions apply to a 31 withholding order for taxes:

32 (1) The state may itself issue a withholding order for 33 taxes to collect a state tax liability. The amount required 34 to be withheld pursuant to an order issued under this 35 paragraph shall be specified in the order and shall be not 36 more than 50 percent of the taxpayer's nonexempt 37 earnings as that term is defined in subdivision (a) of 38 Section 723.050. At the time of issuance, the state shall 39 serve upon the taxpayer (i) a copy of the order and (ii) 40 a notice informing the taxpayer of the effect of the order two times the maximum amount that is permitted to be withheld under

1 and his right to review and modification of such order.
2 The taxpayer may apply in the manner provided in 3 Section 723.105 to a court of record in his county of 4 residence for a hearing to claim the exemption provided 5 by Section 723.051. No fee shall be charged for filing such 6 application. After hearing, the court may modify the 7 withholding order for taxes previously issued, but in no 8 event shall the amount required to be withheld be less 9 than that permitted to be withheld under Section 723.050.

10 (2) The state may, at any time, apply to a court of 11 record in the county where the taxpayer was last known 12 to reside for the issuance of a withholding order for taxes 13 to collect a state tax liability. Such application shall 14 include an affidavit stating that the state has served upon 15 the taxpayer (i) a copy of the application and (ii) a notice 16 informing the taxpayer of the purpose of the application 17 and his right to appear with regard to such application.
18 The court shall immediately set the matter for hearing 19 and the court clerk shall notify the state and the taxpayer 20 at least 10 days before the hearing of its time and place.
21 After hearing, the court shall issue a withholding order 22 for taxes which shall require the taxpayer's employer to 23 withhold and pay over all earnings of the taxpayer other 24 than that amount which the taxpayer proves is exempt 25 under Section 723.051, but in no event shall the amount 26 required to be withheld be less than that permitted to be 27 withheld under Section 723.050.

28 (3) Subject to paragraph (4), an employer who 29 receives a withholding order for taxes shall withhold and 30 pay over earnings of the employee pursuant to such order 31 and shall cease to withhold earnings pursuant to any prior 32 order except a withholding order for support. When an 33 employer is required to cease withholding earnings 34 pursuant to a prior order, he shall notify the judgment 35 creditor who obtained the prior order that a supervening 36 withholding order for taxes is in effect.

37 (4) An employer shall not withhold earnings of an 38 employee pursuant to a withholding order for taxes if a 39 prior withholding order for taxes is in effect.

40 (5) An employer shall continue to withhold pursuant

1 to a withholding order for taxes until the amount 2 specified in the order has been paid in full.

3 (g) No method of collection of an unpaid tax liability 4 from the earnings of an employee may be used by the 5 state, except as provided in this chapter.

6 723.032. Service of an earnings withholding order
7 creates a lien upon the earnings required to be withheld
8 pursuant to such order. Such lien shall continue for a 9 period of one year from the date such earnings became 10 payable.

11 12 Article 3. Restrictions on Earnings Withholding

13
14 723.050. (a) As used in this section, "nonexempt 15 earnings" for any workweek means the earnings of the 16 judgment debtor for that workweek less the sum of all the 17 following:

18 (1) An amount equal to the amount that would be 19 withheld for federal income tax purposes from the same 20 amount of earnings of a single person who claims one 21 exemption.

22 (2) An amount determined by the state administrator $\frac{S}{A}$
23 which is representative of the amount that would be 24 withheld for federal social security tax purposes from 25 such amount of earnings.

26 (3) An amount determined by the state administrator $\frac{S}{A}$ 27 which is representative of the amount that would be 28 withheld for state disability insurance taxes from such 29 amount of earnings.

30 (4) An amount equal to the amount that would be 31 withheld for state income tax purposes from the same 32 amount of earnings of a single person who claims one 33 exemption.

34 (5) An amount equal to 30 times the federal minimum 35 hourly wage prescribed by Section 6(a)(1) of the Fair 36 Labor Standards Act of 1938 in effect at the time the 37 earnings are payable.

38 (b) Except as otherwise provided in Sections 723.030, 39 723.031, and 723.106, the maximum amount of the 40 earnings of a judgment debtor in any workweek which

— 26 —

1 can be withheld pursuant to this chapter is 25 percent of 2 his nonexempt earnings. If the amount computed under 3 this subdivision is not a multiple of one dollar ($1), 4 fractional amounts less than one-half dollar ($0.50) shall 5 be disregarded and fractional amounts of one-half dollar 6 ($0.50) or more shall be rounded upward to the next 7 higher whole dollar. If the total amount withheld is not 8 more than one dollar ($1), nothing shall be withheld.

9 (c) The State Administrator shall prescribe by 10 regulation the method of computing the amount to be 11 withheld in the case of earnings for any pay period other 12 than a week, which method shall be substantially 13 equivalent in effect to that prescribed in subdivision (b).

14 (d) The State Administrator shall prepare withholding 15 tables for determining the amount to be withheld from 16 the earnings of employees for representative pay periods.
 17 The tables may prescribe the amounts to be withheld 18 according to reasonable earnings brackets. The tables 19 prepared by the state administrator pursuant to this 20 subdivision shall be used to determine the amount to be 21 withheld in all cases where the tables permit 22 computation of the amount to be withheld.

23 723.051. The portion of his earnings which a judgment 24 debtor proves is essential for the support of himself or his 25 family is exempt from levy under this chapter. This 26 standard recognizes that the exemption provided by 27 Section 723.050 should be adequate except in rare and 28 unusual cases. Neither the judgment debtor's accustomed 29 standard of living nor a standard of living "appropriate to 30 his station in life" is the criterion for measuring the 31 debtor's claim for exemption under this section.

32 33 Article 4. Procedure for Issuance of 34 Earnings Withholding Orders 35

36 723.100. The Judicial Council may provide by rule, 37 not inconsistent with this chapter, for practices and 38 procedures in proceedings under this article chapter.

39 723.101. (a) Service under this article shall be by 40 personal delivery or by first-class mail, airmail, registered registered or certified mail, postage prepaid with return receipt requested. When service is made by mail, service is completed at the time the return receipt is executed by the recipient or his representative.

1 mail, or certified mail, postage prepaid.

2 (b) Notwithstanding Section 1032.6, except as 3 provided in subdivision (c), a judgment creditor is not 4 entitled to the costs of service under this chapter which 5 exceed the cost of service by certified mail with return 6 receipt requested.

7 (c) If the employer of the judgment debtor refuses to 8 accept service by registered or certified mail, the cost of 9 service by personal delivery may be recovered from the 10 judgment debtor.

set { (d) Where the employer of the judgment debtor refuses to accept service by mail of an earnings withholding order and the judgment creditor subsequently serves such order by personal delivery and his order is denied effect because an intervening order has been given effect, upon application of the judgment creditor, the court which issued the judgment creditor his original earnings withholding order shall make a special order directed to the employer to cease withholding under the intervening order and to comply with the original order.
In these circumstances, for the purposes of Section 723.022, service of the original order shall be deemed complete on the date of service of the special order directing the employer to comply with the original order.

-272-

11 723.102. A judgment creditor may apply for the 12 issuance of an earnings withholding order by filing an 13 application, in the form prescribed by the Judicial 14 Council, with the clerk of the court which entered the 15 judgment or order pursuant to which the earnings 16 withholding order is sought.

17 723.103. (a) At the time of filing an application for 18 issuance of an earnings withholding order, the judgment 19 creditor shall serve the following upon the judgment to 20 debtor:

21 (1) A copy of the application for the earnings
 22 withholding order.

23 (2) A notice of the application.

24 (b) Service upon the judgment debtor shall be made

(b) The papers specified in subdivision (a) shall be mailed to the judgment debtor

25 at his last known residence address or, if no such address 26 is known to the judgment creditor, the papers specified such 27 in subdivision (a) may be mailed to the judgment debtor 28 in an envelope marked "Personal—Important 29 Documents" addressed to him at his place of 30 employment.

31 (c) The failure of the judgment debtor to receive the 32 papers specified in subdivision (a) does not affect the 33 validity of a properly issued earnings withholding order.

34 723.104. Upon application of a judgment creditor, the 35 court clerk shall promptly issue an earnings withholding 36 order in the form prescribed by Section 723.125.

37 723.105. (a) A judgment debtor may apply for a 38 hearing to claim an exemption under this chapter if:

39 (1) No prior hearing has been held with respect to the 40 earnings withholding order; or

1 (2) There has been a material change in 2 circumstances since the time of the last prior hearing on 3 the earnings withholding order.

(1) 4 (b) Application for a hearing shall be made by filing an 5 original and one copy of the judgment debtor's
(2) 6 application for hearing and, if he claims the exemption
7 provided by Section 723.051, his financial statement.

8 (c) The hearing shall be held within 15 days after the 9 date the application is filed. The court clerk shall notify 10 the judgment debtor and the judgment creditor at least 11 10 days before the hearing of its time and place and shall 12 include with the notice to the judgment creditor a copy 13 of the application for hearing and the financial statement, 14 if any.

15 (d) If, after hearing, the court orders that the earnings 16 withholding order be modified or terminated, the clerk 17 shall promptly send a copy of the modified earnings 18 withholding order to the employer of the judgment 19 debtor or notify the employer in writing that the earnings 20 withholding order has been terminated. The court may 21 order that the earnings withholding order be terminated 22 as of a date which precedes the date of hearing.

23 (e) Except as provided in Section 723.106, if the 24 earnings withholding order is terminated by the court, 25 unless the court otherwise orders or unless there is a 26 material change of circumstances since the time of the 27 last prior hearing on the earnings withholding order, the 28 judgment creditor may not apply for another earnings 29 withholding order directed to the same employer with 30 respect to the same judgment debtor for a period of 125 31 days following the date of issuance of the earnings 32 withholding order.

service

33 (f) If an employer has withheld and paid over amounts 34 pursuant to an earnings withholding order after the date 35 of termination of such order but prior to the receipt of 36 notice of its termination, the judgment debtor may 37 recover such amounts only from the judgment creditor.
38 If the employer has withheld amounts pursuant to an 39 earnings withholding order after termination of the order 40 but has not paid over such amounts to the judgment

1 creditor, the judgment debtor may recover such amounts 2 from his employer.

3 723.106. (a) As used in this section, "earnings" 4 includes all compensation (whether denominated as 5 commission, wages, salary, bonus, tips, or otherwise) for personal 6 services performed by an employee, whether paid or 7 payable by the employer or by any other person.

8 (b) Where a judgment debtor has earnings from more 9 than one source, an earnings withholding order may be 10 issued based on the debtor's total earnings but directed 11 to one employer.

12 (c) An employer shall not be required to withhold 13 pursuant to this section an amount in excess of the lesser 14 of either of the following:

15 (1) The amount of earnings payable to the judgment 16 debtor by the employer after deducting all amounts 17 required to be withheld by law or by any contract which 18 is not revocable by the employee or at his instance.

19 (2) An amount equal to that which would be 20 permitted to be withheld if the total earnings of the 21 debtor were used in computing nonexempt earnings 22 under Section 723.050.

debtor from all sources were used in computing the amount that is permitted to be withheld under Section 723.050.

23 (d) A judgment creditor may, at any time, request a 24 hearing to prove that the judgment debtor receives 25 earnings from more than one source and that the 26 judgment creditor should be granted an order requiring 27 one employer to withhold a greater amount from the 28 earnings payable by that employer than he would have to 29 withhold were he the judgment debtor's only source of 30 earnings. The request shall set out the facts on which the 31 judgment creditor's claim is based. The request shall be 32 made to the court to which application is made for the 33 earnings withholding order.

34 (e) The court shall set the matter for hearing after 35 receiving the written request together with an affidavit 36 stating that the judgment creditor has served a copy of 37 the request for hearing in the manner provided in 38 Section 723.101. The court clerk shall notify the judgment 39 debtor and the judgment creditor at least 10 days before 40 the hearing of its time and place.

p SB 1

1 (f) The judgment creditor has the burden of proof on 2 the issue of his right to have a greater amount withheld 3 by one employer pursuant to this section. If the court 4 finds that the judgment creditor is entitled to an order 5 requiring an employer to withhold a greater amount 6 from the judgment debtor's earnings than the employer 7 would have had to withhold were he the judgment 8 debtor's only source of earnings, the court shall make an 9 appropriate order.

10 (g) The hearing provided by this section may be 11 combined with a hearing under Section 723.105. If an 12 earnings withholding order has previously been issued 13 under this section, the court, after hearing held at the 14 request of either the judgment debtor or the judgment 15 creditor, may modify the prior order, and the clerk shall 16 promptly send a copy of the revised order to the 17 employer of the judgment debtor.

18 723.107. (a) The earnings withholding order, 19 together with the form for an employer's return and the 20 informational pamphlet and withholding tables
 21 published by the state administrator shall be served upon 22 the designated employer by the judgment creditor.

(b) At the time he makes service pursuant to subdivision (a), the judgment creditor shall provide the employer with a copy of the informational pamphlet and the withholding tables published by the State Administrator.

c/ 23 (b) The state administrator may promulgate rules and S/A/24 regulations permitting waiver of or variances from the 25 requirements of subdivision (a). b/d/ 26 (c) An order not served upon the employer within 45 27 days after its date of issuance is void.

28 723.108. Any employer who receives an earnings is served with 29 withholding order shall complete the employer's return 30 on the form provided by the judgment creditor and shall 31 mail it to the judgment creditor within 15 days from the 32 date he receives the earnings withholding order. of service.

33 723.109. If an employer withholds earnings pursuant 34 to an earnings withholding order, the judgment creditor 35 who obtained such withholding order may not serve 36 another withholding order on the same employer 37 requiring him to withhold earnings of the same employee 38 during the 10 days following the expiration of the prior 39 earnings withholding order.

1 Article 5. Forms; Instructional Pamphlet;
2 Withholding Table

4 723.120. The Judicial Council shall prescribe the form 5 of the applications, notices, orders, and other documents 6 required by this chapter and only such forms may be used 7 to implement this chapter. Such forms shall require the information prescribed by this chapter and such additional information as the Judicial Council requires.

8 723.121. The "Application for Issuance of Earnings 9 Withholding Order" shall be executed under oath and 10 shall include all of the following:

- (a) The name and address of the judgment debtor and, if known, his social security number.
- b/* 11 (a) The name and address of the judgment creditor.
12 (b) The date and place where the judgment is c/ 13 entered.
- d/* 14 (c) The amount sought to be collected, indicating the 15 amount of the judgment, plus additional accrued items, 16 less partial satisfactions, if any.
- e/* 17 (d) The name and address of the employer to whom 18 the order will be directed.
- f/* 19 (e) The name and address of the person to whom the 20 withheld money is to be paid.
- g/* 21 (f) The name and address of the person designated by 22 the judgment creditor to receive notices.
- h/* 23 (g) A statement that the applicant has no information 24 or belief that the indebtedness for which the order is 25 sought has been discharged by a discharge granted to the 26 judgment debtor under the National Bankruptcy Act or 27 that the prosecution of the proceeding has been stayed in 28 a proceeding under the National Bankruptcy Act.
- i/* 29 (h) A statement that the applicant has complied with 30 the requirements of Section 723.103.
- 31 723.122. In addition to other information required by 32 the rules and regulations of the state administrator, the S/A/
33 "Notice of the Application for Issuance of an Earnings 34 Withholding Order" shall inform the judgment debtor of 35 all of the following:
- 36 (a) The judgment creditor has asked the court to 37 order the named employer to withhold from the earnings 38 of the judgment debtor the maximum amounts allowed 39 by law and to pay these amounts over to the person 40 specified in the application for the order in payment of on illustrative amounts of earnings.

4 (c) No amount can be withheld from the earnings of 5 a judgment debtor (1) for a debt which he can prove has 6 been discharged by a discharge granted to him under the 7 National Bankruptcy Act or (2) where he can prove that 8 further proceedings for the collection of such debt have 9 been stayed in a proceeding under the National 10 Bankruptcy Act.

11 (d) No amount can be withheld from the earnings of 12 a judgment debtor which he can prove is essential for the 13 support of himself or his family.

14 (e) If a judgment debtor wishes a court hearing to 15 prove that amounts should not be withheld from his 16 earnings, he shall file with the clerk of court two copies 17 of the "Application of Judgment Debtor for Hearing," 18 and, in addition, if he claims the exemption referred to in 19 paragraph (d), he shall also file with the clerk two copies 20 of the "Judgment Debtor's Financial Statement."

21 723.123. The "Application of Judgment Debtor for 22 Hearing" shall be executed under oath. Where the 23 judgment debtor claims the exemption provided by

5/ 6 SEC. 16. Section 2922 of the Labor Code is amended 9/
 7 to read:

8 2922. An employment, having no specified term, may 9 be terminated at the will of either party on notice to the 10 other. No employer may discharge any employee by 11 reason of the fact that his earnings have been subjected 12 to garnishment for any one indebtedness, prior to a final 13 order or judgment of a court. The wages of an individual 14 whose employment has been so terminated shall 15 continue until reinstatement if such termination is found 16 to be in violation of this section; but such wages shall not 17 continue for more than 30 days. The employee shall give 18 notice to his employer of his intention to make such a 19 wage claim within 30 days after being laid off or 20 discharged and shall file a wage claim with the Labor 21 Commissioner within 60 days of being laid off or 22 discharged. The Labor Commissioner shall take 23 assignment of wage claims under this section as provided 24 for in Section 96. Employment for a specified term means 25 an employment for a period greater than one month.

26 SEC. 17. Section 2924 of the Labor Code is amended
 27 to read:

28 2924. An employment for a specified term may be 29 terminated at any time by the employer in case of any 30 willful breach of duty by the employee in the course of 31 his employment, or in case of his habitual neglect of his 32 duty or continued incapacity to perform it. No employer 33 may discharge any employee by reason of the fact that his 34 earnings have been subjected to garnishment for one 35 indebtedness, prior to a final order or judgment of a 36 court. The wages of an individual whose employment has 37 been so terminated shall continue until reinstatement if 38 such termination is found to be in violation of this section; 39 but such wages shall not continue for more than 30 days.
 40 The employee shall give notice to his employer of his

1 intention to make such a wage claim within 30 days after 2 being laid off or discharged and shall file a wage claim 3 with the Labor Commissioner within 60 days of being laid 4 off or discharged. The Labor Commissioner may take 5 assignment of wage claims under this section as provided 6 for in Section 96.

7 SEC. 18. Section 2929 is added to the Labor Code, to 8 read:

9 2929. (a) As used in this section:

10 (1) "Garnishment" means any judicial procedure 11 through which the wages of an employee are required to 12 be withheld for the payment of any debt.

13 (2) "Wages" has the same meaning as that term has 14 under Section 200.

15 (b) No employer may discharge any employee by 16 reason of the fact that the garnishment of his wages has 17 been threatened.

Ital. 18 (c) No employer may discharge any employee by 19 reason of the fact that his wages have been subjected to 20 garnishment for the payment of one judgment.

Ital. 21 (d) No employer may discharge any employee by 22 reason of the fact that his wages have been subjected to 23 garnishment pursuant to Section 723.030 of the Code of 24 Civil Procedure (support order), and the fact that an 25 employee's wages have been subjected to garnishment 26 pursuant to that section shall not be counted for the 27 purposes of subdivision (c).

Ital. 28 (e) A provision of a contract of employment that 29 provides an employee with less protection against 30 discharge than is provided by subdivisions (b), (c), and 31 (d) is against public policy and void.

than is provided by ~~this subdivision~~ subdivisions (b),

Ital. 32 (f) Unless the employee has greater rights under the 33 contract of employment, the wages of an employee who 34 is discharged in violation of this section shall continue 35 until reinstatement notwithstanding such discharge, but 36 such wages shall not continue for more than 30 days and 37 shall not exceed the amount of wages earned during the 38 30 calendar days immediately preceding the date of the 39 levy of execution upon the employee's wages which 40 resulted in his discharge. The employee shall give notice

1. to his employer of his intention to make a wage claim 2 under this subdivision within 30 days after being 3 discharged; and, if he desires to have the Labor 4 Commissioner take an assignment of his wage claim, the 5 employee shall file a wage claim with the Labor 6 Commissioner within 60 days after being discharged. The 7 Labor Commissioner may, in his discretion, take 8 assignment of wage claims under this subdivision as 9 provided for in Section 96. A discharged employee shall not be permitted to recover wages under this subdivision if a criminal prosecution based on the same discharge has been commenced for violation of Section 304 of the Consumer Credit Protection Act of 1968 (15 U.S.C. Sec. 1674).

Stat. 10 (g) Nothing in this section affects any other rights the 11 employee may have against his employer.

Stat. 12 (h) This section is intended to aid in the enforcement 13 of the prohibition against discharge for garnishment of 14 earnings provided in the Consumer Credit Protection 15 Act of 1968 (15 U.S.C. Secs. 1671-1677) and shall be 16 interpreted and applied in a manner which is consistent 17 with the corresponding provisions of such act.

Sec. 16. Section 11489 of the Welfare and Institutions Code is amended to read:

11489. After judgment in any court action brought to enforce the support obligation of an absent parent pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, ~~a writ of execution may be issued against one-half of the earnings of the absent parent due or owing for his personal services and no claim for exemption shall be effective against the enforcement of such writ of execution~~ the court may issue an earnings withholding order under Section 723.030 of the Code of Civil Procedure to enforce such obligation.

7/ 18 SEC. 18. This act shall become operative on July 1, 19 1973, but the Director of Industrial Relations and the 20 Judicial Council may, prior to that date, do whatever is 21 necessary so that this act may go into effect on July 1, 22 1973. The Director of Industrial Relations shall publish 23 the earnings withholding tables and informational 24 pamphlets referred to in Section 723.128 before July 1, 25 1973. The Judicial Council shall prescribe by rule the 26 necessary forms as required by Section 723.120 before 27 July 1, 1973.

Civil Code

§ 4701 (amended). Continuing withholding order for support

Comment. Section 4701 is amended to reflect the enactment of the comprehensive procedure for earnings withholding set forth in the Employees' Earnings Protection Law. See Code Civ. Proc. § 723.010 et seq.

While the wage assignment procedure formerly used under Section 4701 is not continued, the substantive effect of the prior law is continued. Thus, the order for support continues to have priority over other withholding orders and assignments and is binding until modified or terminated by the court. See Code Civ. Proc. § 723.030; Labor Code § 300. As under prior law, the court may require withholding from the earnings of either or both parents. Authorization for the employer to deduct a one-dollar fee also is continued under Section 723.024. Under prior law, withheld earnings were required to be paid to a court officer or county officer specified by the court; this authority is continued in the amended section and expanded to permit the court to order the employer to pay the withheld earnings directly to the person having custody of the child or to such other person as the court specifies in the order. Section 4701 applies to orders directed to both public and private employers. See Code Civ. Proc. § 723.011(c), (g), and Comment thereto.

Code of Civil Procedure

§ 682 (technical amendment)

Comment. Section 682 is amended to make clear that levy of execution upon earnings is limited in the amounts and in the manner provided by Sections 690.5 1/2 and 690.6. It should be noted, however, that generally speaking earnings which are due and owing are not subject to levy of execution but may only be levied upon in the amounts and in the manner provided by the Employees' Earnings Protection Law. See generally Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010).

§ 688 (technical amendment)

Comment. Section 688 is amended to make clear that, although earnings of an employee-debtor are "not exempt by law" from all collection procedures, they are exempt from levy of execution and are subject to levy only under the Employees' Earnings Protection Law. See subdivision (b) of Section 690.5-1/2. See generally Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010). The phrase "except as provided for in Section 690.6" is deleted as unnecessary. The sentence relating to gold dust is deleted as obsolete.

§ 690.5-1/2 (added). Earnings for personal services of employees

Comment. Section 690.5 1/2 is added to make clear the relationship between new Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010) and the remaining attachment and execution procedures and to satisfy the restrictions upon the attachment of and execution upon earnings imposed by recent judicial decisions and federal legislation. See, e.g., Sniadach

Cf. Randone v. Appellate Department, 5 Cal.3d 536, 488 P.2d 13, 96 Cal. Rptr. 709 (1971). See also Recommendation Relating to Attachment, Garnishment, and Exemptions From Execution: Employees' Earnings Protection Law, 10 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 701 (1971).

Section 690.5 1/2 states the exemptions from prejudgment levy of attachment for all earnings of an employee, both paid and payable. This section is also the source of exemption from postjudgment levy of execution for paid earnings of an employee. The exemptions for unpaid earnings—i.e., earnings "due and owing"—are provided in Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010).

Subdivision (a). Subdivision (a) is based on the definition of "earnings" stated in Section 723.011, and Section 690.5 1/2 is applicable therefore only to persons ("employees") protected under the Employees' Earnings Protection Law. Compare Section 690.6. See also Comment to Section 723.011. However, the definition of earnings used here includes earnings both "paid and payable"; Section 723.011 refers only to earnings payable by an employer. Earnings which are "payable" are those which are referred to as "due and owing" under this section. "Paid" earnings are covered here by reference to earnings which have been paid to the debtor—whether or not they are still in a form identifiable as "earnings." It should be noted that certain analogous types of periodic payments—for example, retirement payments, welfare assistance, and unemployment benefits—are not covered here but by other provisions of the 690 series. See, e.g., Sections 690.175 (unemployment compensation), 690.18 (payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program), 690.19 (public assistance).

Subdivision (b). Former subdivision (a) of Section 690.6 provided an automatic, total exemption from prejudgment levy of attachment of all earnings "due and owing" to any debtor; this aspect of the former law is carried forward without change in subdivision (b) of Section 690.6 and subdivision (b) of this section. Compare Cal. Stats. 1970, Ch. 1523, § 19.

Subdivision (b) of Section 690.5-1/2 also makes clear that the levy of execution may no longer be used to garnish the wages of an employee while they are still in the hands of his employer. A judgment creditor now may only reach this asset of a debtor pursuant to Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010).

Subdivision (c). Subdivision (c) exempts from attachment all earnings of the debtor which "are in his possession in a form identifiable by the levying officer as earnings." It would be inconsistent to exempt earnings payable by an employer but to make these same earnings subject to attachment as soon as they pass into the hands of the employee-debtor. (The term "debtor" is used here to include a defendant or cross-defendant subject to attachment. See Section 690(c).) Accordingly, to avoid such an anomaly, subdivision (c) provides the same total exemption from attachment for all paid earnings still in a form identified as earnings. Included in the latter category would, for example, be an uncashed paycheck. The identification is done by the levying officer--sheriff, constable, or marshal. Where the levying officer mistakenly attaches earnings, the debtor may still claim an exemption under subdivision (d). Under subdivision (c), however, the exemption is automatic; no claim pursuant to Section 690.50 is required.

Subdivision (d). Subdivision (d) provides an exemption from attachment for earnings paid but not in a form identifiable as earnings or, at least, not in fact so identified by the levying officer. Subdivision (d) is intended to cover the relatively rare case where the officer cannot or does not properly identify earnings as earnings. This can happen, for example, where cash in the possession of the debtor is attached. Circumstances may clearly indicate that the money is "earnings"—for example, cash in a pay envelope attached shortly after the debtor leaves his place of employment upon a payday. Nevertheless, in other circumstances, subdivision (d) affords the debtor an opportunity at least to claim an exemption pursuant to Section 690.50 by showing that "earnings" have been attached. Subdivision (d) does not, however, protect earnings after they have been converted into another form. Protection of assets in these other forms must be sought under other exemption provisions. See, e.g., Civil Code § 1240 (homestead); Code Civ. Proc. §§ 690.1 (household furnishings and appliances), 690.2 (motor vehicles), 690.7 (money deposited in a bank, credit union, or savings and loan association).

Subdivision (e). As noted above, subdivision (b) makes clear that the levy of execution may no longer be used to garnish the wages of an employee while they are still in the hands of his employer. A judgment creditor now may only reach this asset under Chapter 2.5. However, Chapter 2.5 deals primarily with unpaid earnings, i.e., earnings which are "due and owing." For a very limited exception to this rule with regard to tips, see Section 723.106 and Comment thereto. Earnings, once paid, are subject to levy of execution. Subdivisions (e) and (f), therefore, provide exemptions from execution for paid earnings comparable to the exemptions provided for unpaid earnings by Sections 723.050 and 723.051. It should be emphasized, however, that subdivision (e) protects only earnings from the employee's most recent pay period and, as noted above, does not protect earnings after they have been converted into another form. Compare Section 690.7 1/2 (money deposited in bank, credit union, or savings and loan association). The amount of the exemption under subdivision (e) is based upon the total amount of the nonexempt earnings of the debtor from his last paycheck--not upon the amount of earnings in his possession at the time of levy. The exemptions provided under subdivisions (e) and (f) must be claimed by the debtor.

Subdivision (f). Subdivision (f) provides an exemption from execution for amounts essential for support comparable to that provided by subdivision (d) of Section 690.6 and Section 723.051. See the Comment to subdivision (e), supra, and the Comments to Sections 690.6 and 723.051.

Subdivision (g). Subdivision (g) provides an immunity from liability comparable to that provided by Government Code Section 822.2 (misrepresentation by public employee).

§ 690.6 (amended). Earnings for personal services of persons other than employees

Comment. Section 690.6 is amended to limit its application to those persons and earnings not protected under Section 690.5 1/2 and the Employees' Earnings Protection Law--Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010). Section 690.5 1/2 and the Employees' Earnings Protection Law apply only to "employees." See, e.g., Sections 690.5 1/2, 723.011, and 723.106. Section 690.6 does not attempt to define or characterize those persons or earnings that remain. However, they could be categorized generally as independent contractors. As to these persons, Section 690.6 continues prior law with one exception. Subdivision (d) has been revised in conformity with Section 723.057 to provide an exemption for those earnings which the debtor proves are essential for support. The standard provided is stricter than the standard under former law; however, the exceptions to the exemption formerly provided in subdivision (c) of Section 690.6 have been eliminated. See Cal. Stats. 1970, Ch. 1523, § 19. See Comment to Section 723.057. See also Recommendation Relating to Attachment, Garnishment, ^{and} Exemptions From Execution: Employees' Earnings Protection Law, 10 CAL. L. REVISION COMM'N REPORTS 701 (1971).

§ 690.7 (repealed)

§ 690.7 (added). Deposit account; exemption from attachment

Note. There is no procedure provided by the California statutes permitting the debtor to obtain a hearing prior to a prejudgment levy of attachment, and the California Supreme Court has held that the existing statute fails to satisfy constitutional requirements. Randone v. Appellate Department, 5 Cal.3d 536, 488 P.2d 13, 96 Cal. Rptr. 709 (1971). Cf. Sniadach v. Family Finance Corp., 395 U.S. 337 (1969). Section 690.7 does not attempt to deal with the constitutional problems involved in prejudgment levy of attachment. The section provides limitations on amounts that may be attached in circumstances where attachment may be constitutionally permitted. These limits are provided in anticipation of the enactment of general attachment procedures that will satisfy constitutional requirements.

Comment. Section 690.7 provides exemptions from attachment of various types of savings and commercial accounts. For similar, but more limited, exemptions of such accounts from execution, see Section 690.7-1/2.

Accounts protected. The accounts protected under Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2 include savings and loan association accounts, credit union accounts, and bank accounts—whether savings or checking accounts. See subdivision (b) (defining "deposit account"). Under prior law, the amount exempt depended on the type and holder of the account: Checking accounts and bank accounts generally were not protected; $1,000 in a savings and loan association account and $1,500 in a credit union account ~~were~~ exempt. See former Section 690.7 and former Financial Code Section 15406. These exemptions were cumulative so that a single debtor could exempt a total of $2,500 by proper allocation of his money. Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2, on the other hand, provide a single aggregate exemption applicable to all types of accounts, including bank savings and checking accounts.

The exemptions provided by Sections 690.7 and 690.7 1/2 are exclusive. They are in no way dependent upon a showing by the debtor that the amount claimed as exempt represents his earnings. On the other hand, the debtor may not claim a greater amount as exempt by showing that amounts deposited were derived from earnings or other exempt sources. See subdivision (i).

Persons protected. A business as well as an individual may take advantage of the exemptions from attachment provided by Section 690.7. See Section 690.7(a). A business is not provided an analogous exemption from execution under Section 690.7-1/2. See Section 690.7-1/2(a).

A husband and wife are ^{generally} treated as one person for the purposes of Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2. See subdivision (a). Accordingly, they are entitled to only one exemption, and accounts standing in the name of either or both of them must be listed in the claim of exemption even though only one of them is sued or is the judgment debtor.

Although subdivision (a) gives "debtor" a special meaning for the purposes of Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2, it is clear that there is no adjudicated debt in the case of attachment. The general definition of "debtor" contained in Section 690(c) (debtor included defendant and judgment debtor) is fully applicable to both sections.

Exemption must be claimed. The exemptions provided by Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2 must be claimed pursuant to Section 690.50. See Section 690(a).

This requirement makes it possible to limit the amount to be exempted by taking into consideration all other accounts owned by the debtor. Nevertheless, in the ordinary case, it is anticipated that the release of funds pursuant to the exemption provided by Section 690.7 or 690.7-1/2 will be expeditiously accomplished. Where only the basic exemption is claimed, it will be easy to compute the exempt amount and there should be little occasion for the filing of counteraffidavits by a creditor; the attaching officer will be able to make the necessary distributions on the basis of the debtor's affidavit alone.

Basic exemption. As much as $500 in the debtor's account is exempted from attachment by Section 690.7(c). A similar $500 exemption from execution is provided by Section 690.7-1/2(c). This basic exemption is an aggregate one, however. Hence, a debtor may claim as exempt from attachment only that portion of an account levied upon which, when added to all other amounts held by the debtor in other accounts on the date of the levy, equals $500. The exemption must be claimed and the burden of proof is on the debtor to show that he is in fact entitled to exempt the amount claimed. See subdivision (f). See also Section 690.50.

In claiming the exemption, the debtor must list in his claim for exemption the amount he holds in all other accounts on the date of the levy even though the other accounts are not levied on. See subdivision (e). In computing the amount of the debtor's exemption, any account standing in the debtor's name, including all joint accounts, are presumed to be the debtor's. This presumption is one affecting the burden of proof. See subdivision (f).

See also Evid. Code §§ 605, 606. Some or all of such accounts may in fact not be subject to attachment or execution to satisfy the debtor's obligation because of the nature of the account or the character of the funds in the account. See Tinsley v. Bauer, 125 Cal. App.2d 724, 271 P.2d 116 (1954); Spear v. Farwell, 5 Cal. App.2d 111, 42 P.2d 391 (1935). Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2 do not affect this immunity; a nondebtor may make his third-party claim pursuant to Section 690.

Additional exemption for support or continuation of business. The debtor is given two additional exemptions from attachment that permit him to protect an amount in excess of the basic $500 exemption if he is able to show such amount is essential for the support of himself or his family (compare Section 723.051) or essential for the maintenance and continuation of his business. See subdivision (d). The latter protection should be particularly helpful to the small business man in avoiding the tremendous impact of an attachment of the operating funds of his business. It should be noted, however, that it applies only against a levy of attachment and is limited to amounts essential for the needs of the business.

Exclusion of attachments to enforce orders for support and to collect state tax liabilities. Subdivision (g) eliminates the exemptions otherwise provided by this section where the attachment is sought to enforce a court order for support or to collect a state tax liability. This special consideration for such creditors is consistent with the special treatment accorded them under the Employees' Earnings Protection Law (Chapter 2.5 of this title) as well as under Title III of the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act. See 15 U.S.C. § 1673(b)(1), (3).

Banker's lien. The exemptions provided by Sections 690.7 and 690.7-1/2 are limitations on garnishment procedures only; they do not in any way affect the exercise of rights pursuant to Civil Code Section 3054 (banker's lien). See subdivision (h).

§ 690.7 1/2 (added). Deposit account; exemption from execution

Comment. Section 690.7-1/2 is added to provide protection from exécution similar to that provided by Section 690.7 from attachment. See Section 690.7 and Comment thereto. However, the exemptions provided by Section 690.7-1/2 are available only to individuals, and no exemption is provided for amounts necessary to maintain or continue the operation of a business. Compare subdivisions (a) and (d) of Section 690.7 with subdivisions (a) and (d) of this section.

§ 690.18 (amended). Exemptions; public and private pension, retirement, disability, or death benefits; vacation credits

Comment. Subdivision (c) of Section 690.18 formerly excluded Keogh Act plans from the exemption provided by this section. Such exclusion conflicted with the exemption provided such plans under Sections 28002 and 28005 of the Corporations Code. The conflict has been resolved by deletion of the reference to Keogh Act plans from Section 690.18.

Subdivision (d) has been added to Section 690.18 to satisfy the federal restrictions on garnishment of "periodic payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program" provided by Title III of the Consumer Credit Protection Act of 1968. See 15 U.S.C. §§ 1672, 1673.

Subdivision (e) has been added to make clear that this section is not the exclusive source of exemptions for retirement funds. See, e.g., Corp. Code § 28005; Educ. Code § 13808 (State Teachers' Retirement System); Govt. Code §§ 21201 (State Employees' Retirement Law), 31452 (County Employees' Retirement Law of 1937).

§ 690.50 (technical amendment)

Comment. Section 690.50 is revised to include appropriate references to Sections 690.5 1/2, 690.7, 690.7 1/2, and 690.18.

§ 710 (technical amendment)

Comment. Section 710 is amended to eliminate the use of the abstract of judgment procedure as a means of garnishing the wages or salary of a public employee. The earnings of such employees may be withheld pursuant to the Employees' Earnings Protection Law only. See Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010).

CHAPTER 2.5. EMPLOYEES' EARNINGS PROTECTION LAW

Article 1. Definitions

§ 723.010. Short title

§ 723.011. Definitions

Comment. Section 723.011 states definitions used in applying this chapter. Subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) make clear that this chapter deals only with the garnishment or withholding of earnings for services rendered in an employer-employee relationship. Subdivisions (b) and (c) are based on the common law requirements for such relationship. It should be noted that an employee may be given considerable discretion and still be an employee as long as his employer has the legal right to control both method and result. However, no attempt is made here to incorporate specific case law arising out of situations involving problems and issues unrelated to the purposes and procedures relevant in applying this chapter. "Employee" includes both private and public employees. See subdivision (g). See also Section 710.

"Earnings" embraces all remuneration "whether denominated as wages, salary, commission, bonus, or otherwise." The infinite variety of forms which such compensation can take precludes a more precise statutory definition. Accordingly, the State Administrator, who is authorized and directed to adopt "such rules and regulations as are reasonably necessary for the purpose of administering this chapter," will be required in some circumstances to provide rulings consistent with the statutory definition as to whether certain items are an employee's earnings and, if so, the earnings period to which such earnings are attributable. See Section 723.151. One such item will probably be vacation credits or pay. Different employers will treat this form of compensation differently. Generally speaking, however, vacation pay should be subject to withholding only when paid, i.e., when the employee goes on vacation or terminates his employment in circumstances where he has the right to be paid his accrued benefits.

Unlike the definition of "earnings" used in Title III of the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act of 1968, the term used here does not include "periodic payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program." Separate treatment is accorded such payments under Section 690.18.

The Director of Industrial Relations is named in subdivision (h) as the State Administrator. He may, of course, delegate powers, duties, and responsibilities within the Department of Industrial Relations in the manner which he deems most suitable. See Govt. Code § 7; Labor Code §§ 7, 55.

Article 2. General Provisions

Comment. Section 723.020 makes the Employees' Earnings Protection Law the exclusive judicial method of compelling an employer to withhold earnings. Attachment of earnings before judgment is abolished by subdivisions (b) and (c) of Section 690.5-1/2. For provisions relating to voluntary wage assignments, see Labor Code Section 300. For issuance of an earnings withholding order to enforce an order for support, see Section 723.030, Civil Code Section 4701, and Welfare and Institutions Code Section 11489. This chapter has no effect on judgment collection procedures that do not involve the withholding of an employee's earnings. See, e.g., Sections 690.7 and 690.7 1/2 (bank and savings accounts) and Section 690.18 (retirement funds). However, where an employee's earnings are sought to be garnished, the creditor must comply with the provisions of this chapter. This rule applies to public entities as well as private persons. This chapter, for example, imposes significant limitations on the state's ability to garnish wages for tax delinquencies pursuant to its warrant and notice procedures. See Section 723.031.

The Employees' Earnings Protection Law has no effect on matters that are preempted by the federal law, such as federal bankruptcy proceedings-- including proceedings under Chapter XIII of the Bankruptcy Act-- and federal tax collection procedures. E.g., Int. Rev. Code of 1954, § 6334(c). Nor does this chapter apply to deductions which an employer is authorized by statute to make for such items as insurance premiums and payments to health, welfare, or pension plans. See, e.g., Govt. Code §§ 1158, 12420; Labor Code §§ 224, 300. Finally, this chapter does not affect the procedures for the examination of a debtor of the judgment debtor provided in Chapter 2 (Sections 717-723) of this part. See Comment to Section 723.156.

§ 723.021. Levy made by earnings withholding order

§ 723.022. Employer's duty to withhold; withholding period

Comment. Section 723.022 states the basic rules governing the employer's duty to withhold pursuant to an earnings withholding order.

Subdivision (b) requires the employer to withhold from all earnings of an employee payable for any pay period of such employee which ends during the "withholding period." See Section 723.151 (State Administrator authorized to adopt rules regarding the pay period to which commissions, bonuses, and the like are attributable). The "withholding period" is described in subdivision (a). It should be noted that only earnings for a pay period ending during the withholding period are subject to levy. Earnings for prior periods, even though still in the possession of the employer, are not subject to the order. An employer may not, however, defer or accelerate any payment of earnings to an employee with the intent to defeat or diminish the satisfaction of a judgment pursuant to this chapter. See Section 723.155.

The withholding period generally commences five calendar days (not working or business days) after service of an earnings withholding order is completed. Subdivision (e) makes clear that, for the purposes of this section, service is completed when the particular paper is actually received at the proper office. Compare Section 723.101. For example, if an order is served on Friday, the withholding period would commence on the following Wednesday. See Section 12 of the Code of Civil Procedure. The five-day delay affords the employer time to process the order within his organization, i.e., deliver the order to the employer's bookkeeper, make bookkeeping adjustments, and so on. The introductory clause to subdivision (b) recognizes certain exceptions to this general rule. An employer is not generally required to withhold pursuant to two orders at the same time; thus, a subsequent order will not be given effect. See Section 723.023 (priority of orders) and Comment thereto. Moreover, withholding may be delayed beyond the normal five-day period where a prior assignment of wages is in effect. See Labor Code § 300 and Comment thereto.

The withholding period does not end until the first of the events described in paragraphs (1) through (3) of subdivision (a) occurs; thus, the employer has a continuing duty to withhold. The "one shot" effect of service of a writ of execution does not apply here. See Recommendation Relating to Attachment, Garnishment, ^{and} Exemptions From Execution: Employees' Earnings Protection Law, 10 CAL. L. REVISION COMM'N REPORTS 701 (1971).

Paragraph (1) provides a general expiration date 125 days after the date of service--thus, the employer will usually be required to withhold for 120 days.

Paragraph (2) reflects the fact that a creditor may voluntarily terminate an order or the court may order termination. See Section 723.105. Of course, in some situations, the court will only modify the prior order, and the employer then must comply with the order as modified.

Paragraph (3) requires the employer to stop withholding when he has withheld the full amount specified in the order.

Again, it should be noted that there are certain exceptions to these rules. One of these is stated in subdivision (c) which requires the employer to stop withholding after he has been served with a certified copy of a satisfaction of the judgment upon which the order is based. See Section 723.101. The judgment creditor has an affirmative duty to so inform the employer of the satisfaction. See Section 723.027. Service of an order for the collection of state taxes suspends the duty of an employer to withhold pursuant to a prior order ^{(other than an order for support).} See Section 723.031 (tax orders). However, this is only a suspension. After the tax order is satisfied, if the withholding period for the prior order has not ended and the duty to withhold has not ended under subdivision (c), the employer must again withhold pursuant to the prior order. Similarly, the duty to withhold is not terminated by the discharge or suspension of an employee and, if the employee is rehired or returns to work during the withholding period, the employer must resume withholding pursuant to the order. Finally, the termination of certain types of orders--orders for the collection of state taxes and support orders--are governed by separate rules. See Sections 723.030 (support orders); 723.031 (tax orders).

Sometimes an order will be terminated or the judgment upon which it is based will be satisfied without the employer's prior knowledge. Sub-division (d) makes clear that an employer will not be subject to liability for having withheld and paid over amounts pursuant to an order prior to service of a written termination of the order or a certified copy of a satisfaction of judgment. The employee must look to the creditor for the recovery of amounts previously paid out. See Section 723.105. See also Section 723.156 (employer entitled to rely on documents actually served).

Comment. Section 723.023 establishes the general rules governing priority of earnings withholding orders. Generally speaking, the first order served is given priority. Occasionally, two or more orders will be served on the same day. In this situation, the employer must comply with the order which was issued pursuant to the judgment first entered. The date of entry of judgment will be indicated on the face of the order. See Section 723.125. In rare instances, orders served the same day will also be based on judgments entered the same day. In this situation, the employer has complete discretion to choose the order with which he will comply. He must, of course, comply with one of these orders. For exceptions to these basic priority rules, see Sections 723.030 (support orders) and 723.031 (state taxes) and the Comments thereto. Unless the subsequent earnings withholding order is for state taxes or for support, an order is void if the employer receives the order while he is required to comply with another.

It should be noted that, in some circumstances, the operation of an order may be suspended, but the duty to withhold is not terminated. See, e.g., Section 723.031 (tax order suspends operation of prior order); Labor Code Section 300 (suspension where prior assignment in effect). See also Comment to Section 723.022. In such cases, as well as in cases where the subsequent order is not given effect, the employer is required to advise the creditor who has served the order that it is suspended or not given effect of the reason for the employer's action. See Sections 723.031(f)(3), 723.108, 723.127.

An employer is generally entitled to rely upon what is served upon him. See Section 723.156 and Comment thereto. He is not required to inquire as to whether or not a creditor has either obtained or served an order improperly.

An earnings withholding order may be served either personally or by certified or registered mail. See Section 723.101. In the latter case, the employer may refuse service, thus forcing the creditor to serve personally. Section 723.101 makes clear that this action does not cause the creditor to lose his priority and outlines the rights of the various parties in such circumstances.

§ 723.024. Employer's service charge for withholding

Comment. Section 723.024 authorizes, but does not require, an employer to deduct an additional dollar as a service charge each time he is required to withhold a portion of his employee's earnings pursuant to an earnings withholding order. For example, if the employee is paid weekly and an amount is withheld each week pursuant to the earnings withholding order, the employer may deduct an additional service charge of one dollar each week. A similar one-dollar charge was formerly authorized under Civil Code Section 4701. A charge of $2.50 was authorized under Code of Civil Procedure Section 710 when earnings of a public employee were levied on under that section. However, there was no provision authorizing an employer to make a service charge in connection with wage garnishments generally.

§ 723.025. Payment to judgment creditor

Comment. Section 723.025 specifies when the amounts withheld pursuant to an order must be paid over to the creditor. Generally, this must be done within 15 days after the employee is paid the amount remaining after withholding. See subdivision (a). Subdivision (a), however, permits the employer to elect to make monthly remittances, and subdivision (b) permits him to forward payments even less frequently where only small amounts are being withheld.

Regardless of when, or if, payment is required, the employer is required to send an employer's return to the judgment creditor. See Sections 723.108 and 723.127.

§ 723.026. Judgment creditor to furnish receipt for payment

Comment. The receipt required by Section 723.026 not only provides the judgment debtor with a record of payments made on the judgment but also enables the judgment debtor to determine whether his employer has paid the amount withheld from his earnings to the judgment creditor.

§ 723.027. Creditor required to notify employer when judgment satisfied

Comment. Section 723.027 requires the filing of a satisfaction of judgment and service of a copy thereof on the employer if the judgment is satisfied "prior to the end of the withholding period." In some cases, the employer will be aware of the satisfaction by virtue of having himself withheld the amount necessary to satisfy the judgment. See Section 723.022(a)(3). In this case, Section 723.027 does not apply. However, the judgment may be satisfied by additional payments from the debtor or through other debt collection procedures instituted by the creditor. If this is the case, Section 723.027 applies, and the creditor has the duty to notify the employer promptly of the satisfaction by serving on him a certified copy of such satisfaction. As to the general duty of a creditor to furnish a debtor a satisfaction of judgment, see Section 675. As to manner of service, see Section 723.101.

§ 723.028. Withholding order for costs and interest

Comment. Section 723.028 makes clear that a judgment creditor must apply for another earnings withholding order to recover costs and interest that accrue following the application for a prior order. To illustrate: A creditor obtains a judgment which his debtor does not pay. The creditor applies for and secures an earnings withholding order directed to the debtor's employer. The application and order require payment of only those amounts owing at the time of the application for this order. See Sections 723.121 (application for issuance of earnings withholding order) and 723.125 (content of earnings withholding order). After the application for this order, further costs may, and interest on the judgment will, accrue. If the creditor wishes to recover these amounts by wage garnishment, he must apply for another earnings withholding order, following the same procedure as before. This application and order is subject to the same general requirements as any other withholding order. It is not entitled to any priority over the orders of other creditors, and the creditor is required to comply with the waiting period prescribed by Section 723.109.

§ 723.029. Lien created by service of earnings withholding order

Comment. Section 723.029 is the counterpart of subdivision (c) of Section 688. Section 688(c) provides that the levy under a writ of execution creates a lien on the property levied upon for a period of one year from the date of the issuance of the execution. Service of an earnings withholding order also constitutes a levy (see Section 723.021), but it is not a levy of a writ of execution. Therefore, a separate provision is required to regulate the existence, commencement, and duration of the lien.

The purpose of Section 723.029 is to protect the employer against stale claims and to give the levying creditor priority over competing claims by third parties where the priority questions are not already regulated by other provisions of this chapter. See Section 723.023; see also Labor Code Section 300. For example, if installments are not promptly paid, competing claims may arise under conflict-of-laws rules (see Sanders v. Armour Fertilizer Works, 292 U.S. 190 (1934)) or in supervening proceedings under the Bankruptcy Act (§ 67(a)).

Since the lien is created upon periodic payments, the one-year period is measured from the date when each installment required to be withheld becomes payable. This rule is comparable to that provided for judgment liens for alimony and child support payments by Section 674.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

Although the lien is limited to one year, it will not expire if, before the end of the one-year period, the levying creditor brings suit against the employer for the payment of the sums the creditor claims should have been paid to him. See Boyle v. Hawkins, 71 Cal.2d 229, 455 P.2d 97, 78 Cal. Rptr. 161 (1969).

§ 723.030. Orders for support

Comment. Section 723.030 provides special rules for an earnings withholding order to enforce a court order for the support of any person, including a former spouse of the judgment debtor. An earnings withholding order for support is given a different effect than other withholding orders: It is effective until terminated by the issuing court (it may, of course, be modified); it is unrestricted in amount; even when in effect, it does not necessarily preclude withholding on either a prior or subsequent order.

The amount specified in the earnings withholding order for support is always withheld first from the support obligor's earnings and paid over to the person specified in that order. However, a prior order remains in effect, and a judgment creditor may still obtain an earnings withholding order even where there is already in effect a prior earnings withholding order for support. Thus, where there are two orders in effect--one for support and one for another obligation--the amount withheld for support is deducted from the employee's earnings first. The amount to be withheld pursuant to the other order is then computed, based on the earnings remaining after this deduction. See Sections 723.031 and 723.050 and the Comments thereto.

Paragraph (1) of subdivision (b) is consistent with prior law. Under prior law, the exemption for 50 percent of a person's earnings did not apply to a judgment based on a support obligation. E.g., Bruton v. Tearle, 7 Cal.2d 48, 57, 59 P.2d 953, 957 (1936)(dictum); Rankins v. Rankins, 52 Cal. App.2d 231, 126 P.2d 125 (1942). Compare Welfare and Institutions Code Section 11489 as enacted by Cal. Stats. 1971, Ch. 578. Also, under prior law, the court had the power to make an equitable division of the debtor's earnings between, for example, his first wife and children and himself and his second family. See Rankins v. Rankins, supra. Paragraph (1) makes the exemption provided by Section 723.050 inapplicable. However, the exemption provided by Section 723.051 is not affected and is therefore applicable to an earnings withholding order for support. Paragraph (1) thus continues the substance of the prior case law. A determination that the exemption provided by Section 723.051 applies has no effect on the support order upon which the earnings withholding order is based; application for modification of the original order for support must be made separately. See Civil Code § 4801. See also Thomas v. Thomas, 14 Cal.2d 355, 94 P.2d 810 (1939). Accordingly, the obligation imposed by the original support order will continue and amounts required to be paid under that order will accumulate until such amounts are paid or the order is modified.

Comment. Section 723.031 provides special rules governing earnings withholding orders for the collection of certain state taxes. As to taxes not within the scope of Section 723.031, the tax obligation must be reduced to judgment, and the taxing authority may then obtain an earnings withholding order like any other creditor and such order is treated the same as any other earnings withholding order.

Tax liabilities within scope of Section 723.031. Section 723.031 applies to those tax liabilities for which a warrant may be issued pursuant to Section 1785 of the Unemployment Insurance Code (unemployment compensation contribution) or Section 6776 (sales and use taxes), 7881 (vehicle fuel license tax), 9001 (use fuel tax), 10111 (motor transportation tax), 16071 (gift tax), 18906 (personal income tax), 26191 (bank and corporation taxes), 30341 (cigarette tax), or 32365 (alcoholic beverage tax) of the Revenue and Taxation Code or for which a notice or order to withhold may be given pursuant to Section 1755 of the Unemployment Insurance Code (unemployment compensation contributions) or Section 6702 (sales and use tax), 7852 (vehicle fuel license tax), 8952 (use fuel tax), 10051 (motor transportation tax), 11451 (private car tax), 16101 (gift tax), 18807 (personal income tax), 26132 (bank and corporation taxes), 30311 (cigarette tax), or 32381 (alcoholic beverage tax) of the Revenue and Taxation Code.

Procedure for issuance of order. Special procedures for issuing withholding orders for taxes are provided in Section 723.031. The state taxing authority may either issue a withholding order for taxes directly without application to the court or may apply to the proper court for a withholding order. Under the first procedure, the order may require the employer to withhold not more than twice the amount permitted to be withheld pursuant to Section 723.050. However, the taxpayer may apply to the appropriate court and secure a reduction of the amount required to be withheld upon proof that these earnings are essential for support. Under the second procedure, the taxing authority can obtain an order, after court hearing, that requires the employer to withhold all of the employee's earnings in excess of the amount essential for the support of the taxpayer and his family. This latter grant of authority is not intended as a directive that such authority be used generally. This extreme remedy could be harsh in its application and should be used sparingly. Regardless of which procedure is followed, the state taxing authority is entitled to a withholding order in an amount not less than the amount permitted to be withheld under Section 723.050 even though there is a court hearing on the employee's claim that his earnings are essential for support.

Subdivision (d) makes clear that, regardless of which procedure is followed, no withholding order for taxes may be issued unless the state tax liability either appears on the face of the taxpayer's return or has been determined in either an administrative or judicial proceeding in which the taxpayer had notice and an opportunity to be heard concerning such liability. However, no review of the taxpayer's tax liability is permitted in proceedings under this section.

Few state tax liabilities are reduced to judgment. Subdivision (c) recognizes this and permits continuation of the present practice.

Form of order. The withholding order for taxes must be denoted as such on its face. The form of the order must comply with rules of the Judicial Council. See Section 723.126.

Priority. A withholding order for taxes takes priority over any prior order except one for support or another withholding order for taxes. As indicated in the Comment to Section 723.030, a support order always takes priority over any other order. Thus, where a support order is in effect and a subsequent tax order is received, the employer will continue to withhold for support, and the amount withheld pursuant to the tax order will be dependent upon the amount of earnings left after subtracting the amount withheld pursuant to the support order. Similarly, where a tax order is in effect and a support order is served, the support order again takes priority. The employer will withhold pursuant to the support order first, and the amount withheld pursuant to the tax order will be dependent upon the amount of earnings left after subtracting the amount withheld pursuant to the support order. See the Comments to Sections 723.030 and 723.050. However, where the prior order is for the collection of a debt other than for taxes or support, the tax order displaces the prior order, and the employer must withhold pursuant to the tax order only until the tax debt is completely paid. If the earnings withholding order for taxes is satisfied during the withholding period of the prior order (Section 723.022), the employer must then again withhold pursuant to the prior order. Where there is a prior tax order in effect, the second tax order is void; the employer may not withhold pursuant to the second order and must promptly notify the agency which issued or obtained the second order of the reason for his action. See Section 723.108.

Procedure provided exclusive. The procedure for withholding earnings for the collection of state tax liability provided in the Employees' Earnings Protection Law is exclusive. The authorization, for example, to direct orders to third persons who owe the taxpayer money found in Section 18807 (personal income tax) and Section 26132 (bank and corporation tax) of the Revenue and Taxation Code is limited by Section 723.031. Subdivision (g) of Section 723.031 makes this clear. Section 723.031 deals, however, only with orders for the collection of certain state taxes. The collection of federal taxes is accomplished pursuant to federal law and cannot be limited by state law. See Int. Rev. Code of 1954, § 7334(c). As to state and local taxes not within the scope of Section 723.031, the tax liability is treated the same as any other obligation. See discussion supra.

Article 3. Restrictions on Earnings Withholding

§ 723.050. Maximum amount of earnings that may be withheld

Comment. Section 723.050 provides the standard exemption applicable to all earnings withholding orders other than orders for support, certain orders for taxes, and orders based on multiple sources of earnings. See Sections 723.030 (support); 723.031 (taxes); 723.106 (multiple sources of earnings). See also Section 723.051 (exemption obtained by special hardship showing).

Section 723.050 reflects policies similar to those underlying Sections 302 and 303 of the federal Consumer Credit Protection Act. In determining the amount of the debtor's earnings subject to garnishment, under both this section and the federal law, certain basic amounts withheld pursuant to law are first deducted. Federal law requires the deduction of all amounts actually "required by law to be withheld." For example, the amount actually withheld for federal income tax purposes from the debtor's earnings is deducted in determining his earnings subject to garnishment ("disposable earnings"). Thus, a debtor claiming a greater number of exemptions will have less withheld and therefore more subject to garnishment. This produces the anomalous situation that a debtor with a large family and greater needs may have more earnings garnished than a single debtor with the same gross income and with more limited needs. Moreover, the federal statute does not elaborate upon what are considered to be "amounts required by law to be withheld." To alleviate these problems, Section 723.050 either specifies precisely the amounts to be deducted in determining the portion of the debtor's earnings which are subject to garnishment ("nonexempt earnings") or directs the State Administrator to fix such specific deductions. These items are related to the types of deductions made under federal law; i.e., they are based on the amounts withheld for federal and state income taxes, social security, and state disability insurance. See paragraphs (1)-(4) of subdivision (a). However, the amount deducted to determine nonexempt earnings is fixed according to a formula and is not necessarily the amount actually deducted from the debtor's earnings. One of the major benefits of this scheme is that it permits tables to be prepared which indicate the exact amount to be withheld from any given amount of earnings. Subdivision (d) directs the State Administrator to prepare tables which will be distributed to every employer required to withhold earnings. See Section 723.107. An employer therefore ^{generally} need not make any computations but will simply withhold pursuant to an earnings withholding order the amount listed in the tables provided him.

Both the federal scheme and Section 723.050 make some provisions for the effect of inflation. The federal statute, however, merely provides a floor based on the federal minimum wage. That is, the federal statute does not permit the creditor to reduce the debtor's weekly disposable earnings below an amount equal to 30 times the federal minimum wage. As the federal minimum wage is increased, this floor is increased accordingly.

(Under the current federal law, if a debtor's disposable earnings are less than $48 per week, no garnishment is permitted; if his disposable earnings are between $48 and $64, all his disposable earnings above $48 are subject to garnishment; if his disposable earnings are more than $64 a week, 25 percent of his disposable earnings are subject to garnishment.) This floor is not an exemption excluded from every debtor's earnings. In contrast, paragraph (5) of subdivision (a) provides a basic minimum exemption that is always deducted in determining nonexempt earnings.

Where an earnings withholding order for support is in effect, the amount withheld pursuant to such order is deducted from the earnings of the employee before computing the amount to be withheld pursuant to any other order. See Sections 723.030 and 723.031 and Comments thereto. Suppose, for example, that an employee's earnings are $150 and a withholding order for support is in effect which requires $40 to be withheld. In determining the maximum amount which may be withheld pursuant to another earnings withholding order, the debtor is treated as having $110 of earnings. The employer should refer to the appropriate withholding table and determine how much is to be withheld from $110 of earnings and withhold that amount under the ordinary withholding order. See Recommendation Relating to Attachment, Garnishment, and Exemptions From Execution: Employees' Earnings Protection Law, 10 Cal. L. Revision Comm'n Reports 701, 700 (1971).

Comment. Section 723.051 is based on the exemption formerly provided by subdivision (c) of Section 690.6. However, the standard for the exemption provided here is more restrictive than former subdivision (c) of Section 690.6 ("essential for support" as compared to "necessary for the use"). This strict standard recognizes that the liberal exemption provided by Section 723.050 should be adequate except in extremely rare and unusual cases. This section is not intended to be used for the maintenance of a life style appropriate to the debtor's station in life or an accustomed standard while the debtor owes money on unsatisfied judgments against him.

Former subdivision (c) of Section 690.6 prevented the debtor from claiming the support exemption if the debt sought to be collected was:

(1) Incurred by the debtor, his wife, or his family for the common necessities of life.

(2) Incurred for personal services rendered by any employee or former employee of the debtor.

In actual operation, the effect of the "common necessities" rule in California was to decide the question whether competing creditors could reach a debtor's earnings neither from the debtor's point of view (the needs of the debtor's dependents were ignored) nor from the creditor's viewpoint (no consideration was given to whether the creditor was careful to advance credit to the debtor only after ascertaining that his credit worthiness showed an ability to pay or whether the creditor provided the debtor with quality goods or services). Rather, the claims of competing creditors for earnings could be decided on the technical, and usually irrelevant, issue of what was a "common necessary of life." See, e.g., Los Angeles Finance Co. v. Flores, 110 Cal. App.2d Supp. 850, 243 P.2d 139 (Sup. Ct. L.A., App. Dep't. 1952). The "common necessary" exception has accordingly been eliminated.

The exception which permitted a creditor who was a former employee of the debtor to take a portion of the debtor's wages even though the debtor could show the money was necessary for the support of his family has also been eliminated. This exception was largely irrelevant to the low income debtor, for such a debtor has no employees, and there is no indication that this provision was actually used by creditors.

Article 4. Procedure for Issuance of Earnings Withholding Orders

§ 723.100. Judicial Council authorized to prescribe practice and procedure

Comment. Article 4 outlines generally the procedure for issuance and review of an earnings withholding order; however, Section 723.100 authorizes the Judicial Council to provide by rule for such special practices and procedures which it believes necessary or desirable for judicial proceedings under this chapter.

§ 723.101. Service; recovery of costs

Comment. Subdivision (a) of Section 723.101 specifies the means by which service must be accomplished under this chapter. Although personal service is authorized, it is anticipated that the convenience and economy of service by mail will result in the overwhelming use of this method. In any event, subdivisions (b) and (c) make clear that, regardless of which means is actually used, the recovery of the costs of service is limited to the cost of service by certified mail with return receipt requested unless this form of service is first refused by the person being served. Only in such circumstances may the cost of personal delivery be recovered. See subdivision (c).

Subdivision (d) provides certain special rules for problems which can arise where mail service has been refused. For example, suppose creditor A mails an earnings withholding order to his debtor's employer and the employer refuses to accept such mail. Creditor A then serves his order by personal delivery but, in the meantime, creditor B has served an order requiring the withholding of the wages of the same debtor and B's order has gone into effect. It would be unfair to A to deny him his priority because of the employer's refusal. Accordingly, subdivision (d) permits A to apply to the court which issued A's original earnings withholding order for an order to the employer directing him to stop withholding pursuant to B's order and to give effect to A's earnings withholding order. So that A may have the benefit of a full 120-day withholding period, A's earnings withholding order is deemed to have been served on the date of service of the special court order made pursuant to subdivision (d). It should be noted that subdivision (d) only preserves the priority which A would have had if the employer had accepted the mail service. Thus, where the intervening order is a withholding order for taxes, A is not entitled to displace the taxing agency. See Section 723.031. The remedy provided by subdivision (d) is exclusive. A is not entitled to recover amounts previously paid to B from either B or the employer, and A's order is not given retroactive effect.

Comment. Section 723.102 requires a judgment creditor to apply for an earnings withholding order to the court which granted him the judgment. For the required content of the application, see Section 723.121. For special provisions regarding the issuance of a withholding order for taxes, see Section 723.031.

§ 723.103. Notice to judgment debtor

Comment. Section 723.103 is designed to give the judgment debtor notice of the imminence of an earnings withholding order so that he will be able to attack the order or assert any facts which may affect the amount of the order as soon as conveniently possible. For requirements for the application for an order and the notice of application, see Sections 723.121 and 723.122.

If the judgment creditor fails to comply with this section, he may be subject to the ordinary sanctions for abuse of process and contempt, and any order issued may be subject to attack on grounds of intrinsic fraud. However, subdivision (c) makes clear that, even though the judgment debtor fails to receive the notice and forms, the validity of the earnings withholding order is not affected.

§ 723.104. Issuance of earnings withholding order

Comment. Section 723.104 makes clear that an earnings withholding order shall be promptly issued on the ex parte application of a judgment creditor. The debtor may request a hearing pursuant to Section 723.105, have such order modified or terminated, and even recover from the creditor amounts withheld and paid over pursuant to such order; but this does not affect the initial issuance of the order.

§ 723.105. Hearing on application of judgment debtor; court order after hearing; recovery of amounts already withheld and paid over

A debtor is not limited as to when he may apply for a hearing; however, unless there has been a material change in either his income or his needs, he may apply only once during the period the order is in effect. See subdivision (a). A similar limitation applies to a judgment creditor who may not apply for the issuance of an earnings withholding order directed to the same employer for the same debtor for 125 days following the date of service of a prior terminated order except in connection with a multiple employment or unless the court orders otherwise or there is a material change in circumstances. See subdivision (e).

An application is made by the debtor by filing an original and one copy of his application and, if necessary, his financial statement. Subdivision (b). For the form of these documents, see Sections 723.123 and 723.124. Upon receipt of these documents, the matter is set for a prompt hearing and the clerk is required to send the copies of the application and financial statement to the creditor and notice of the hearing to both parties. See subdivision (c).

After hearing, the court may order that the earnings withholding order be modified or even terminated. The date fixed for termination of the order may precede the date of the hearing. See subdivision (d). Where the date of termination is made retroactive, an employer may have already withheld and paid over pursuant to the earnings withholding order prior to receipt of notice of termination. Subdivision (d) of Section 723.022 makes clear that the employer is not liable to the debtor for such amounts, and subdivision (f) of this section authorizes the debtor to recover such amounts from his creditor. Of course, where amounts have been withheld but not yet paid over to the creditor, the debtor can recover these amounts from the employer.⁴ See subdivision (f).

Comment. Section 723.106 affords a creditor an opportunity to require an employer to withhold more than he would otherwise withhold by a showing that the debtor has a greater source of earnings than that one employer. This can occur both where the debtor has two or more employers and where he is receiving "earnings," such as tips which are included ^{under this section} \wedge as earnings for the purpose of computing the amount of earnings which may be garnished. It should be noted that the term "earnings" used here is still limited to compensation for services rendered by an employee, i.e., an employee-employer relationship is involved, even though the compensation for the work performed may not come directly from the employer. Where there are two employers, the creditor may, of course, apply for separate withholding orders directed to each; however, there may be advantages for both the creditor and debtor in having only one of these two employers withhold the total amount garnishable from the debtor's combined earnings from both employers.

Subdivision (c) provides limitations on the amounts required to be withheld under this section. Paragraph (1) makes clear that an employer is never required to withhold more than the basic net pay of the employee, i.e., "the amount of earnings payable to the judgment debtor by the employer after deducting all amounts required to be withheld by law or by any contract which is not revocable by the employee or at his instance." Paragraph (2) carries out the policy of Section 723.050 with regard to the debtor's total earnings.

Although subdivision (d) permits a creditor to request a hearing under this section "at any time," after the matter has been heard once a second hearing should not be required unless and until there has been a change in circumstances that warrants reconsideration of the issues.

Occasionally, in the multiple employment situation, only one employer will be withholding pursuant to an order based on the combined earnings of a debtor and a second employer will be served with an earnings withholding order by a second creditor--both of the latter being unaware of the prior order. In such circumstances, it is up to the debtor to claim relief from the second order pursuant to Section 723.105. It should be noted in this regard that Section 723.105 authorizes the court to terminate the second order retroactively, and the debtor may recover amounts already paid over to the second creditor.

Comment. Section 723.107 prescribes what must be served upon the employer by the judgment creditor and when such service must be accomplished to be effective. The form for the employer's return is prescribed in Section 723.127. See also Section 723.128 (informational pamphlet and withholding tables).

§ 723.108. Employer's return

Comment. Section 723.108 directs every employer to fill out and mail an Employer's Return to every judgment creditor who serves an earnings withholding order. Such a return must be made even though the order is not given effect. See Comment to Section 723.023. For the form of the return, see Section 723.127.

§ 723.109. Limitation on obtaining additional earnings withholding orders

Comment. Section 723.109 precludes a creditor who has obtained an earnings withholding order which has gone into effect from serving another order during the 10-day period following the expiration of his prior order. The purpose of this limitation is to give other creditors a 10-day period during which they can serve their earnings withholding orders while the original creditor is precluded from competing with them. The original creditor may apply for the second earnings withholding order either before or after his prior order expires. But service of the second order while the original order is in effect will be ineffective under Section 723.023, and service during the 10-day period following expiration of the original order is prohibited by Section 723.109. Even though a creditor violates the 10-day moratorium period, the employer may act pursuant to what has been served upon him. See Section 723.156. Of course, after the expiration of the 10-day period, the original creditor is treated like any other creditor.

It should be noted that each agency of the state is considered a separate entity for the purposes of this chapter. See Section 723.011 (e). Hence, even though one agency has been making collection, a second agency may serve an earnings withholding order within the 10-day period provided in this section.

Article 5. Forms; Instructional Pamphlet; Withholding Table

§ 723.120. Judicial Council to prescribe forms

Comment. Section 723.120 requires the Judicial Council to prescribe the forms necessary for the purposes of this chapter. Various sections prescribe information to be contained in the forms; but, subject to these minimum requirements, the Judicial Council has complete authority to adopt and revise the forms as necessary, and may require additional information in the forms.

Comment. Although Section 723.121 requires the application to be executed "under oath," this may generally be done by a statement signed under penalty of perjury. See Section 2015.5. The actual form for the application is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120.

§ 723.122. Notice of application

Comment. The actual form for the notice of application is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120.

§ 723.123. Form for application of judgment debtor for hearing

Comment. Although Section 723.123 requires the application to be executed "under oath," this may generally be done by a statement signed under penalty of perjury. See Section 2015.5. The actual form for the application is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120.

§ 723.124. Judgment debtor's financial statement

Comment. Although Section 723.124 requires the financial statement to be executed "under oath," this may generally be done by a statement signed under penalty of perjury. See Section 2015.5. The actual form for the financial statement is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120.

§ 723.125 Earnings withholding order

Comment. Section 723.125 specifies the information to be included in the earnings withholding order. The form of the order is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120. Special forms are prescribed for earnings withholding orders for support or taxes. See Section 723.126.

§ 723.126. Earnings withholding orders for support or taxes

Comment. Although the information listed in Section 723.125 will be necessary in an earnings withholding order for support or taxes, such orders have special rules concerning priority, duration, and amounts that may be withheld. See Sections 723.030 and 723.031. Accordingly, the form and content of these special orders is left to determination by the Judicial Council.

§ 723.127. Employer's return

Comment. Section 723.127 specifies the information to be included in the employer's return. The form for the return is prescribed by the Judicial Council. See Section 723.120. Although Section 723.127 requires the employer's return to be executed "under oath," this may generally be done by a statement signed under penalty of perjury. See Section 2015.5.

§ 723.128. Informational pamphlet and withholding tables

Comment. Subdivision (a) of Section 723.128 requires the preparation of an informational pamphlet that contains the information necessary so that an employer may comply with the law. The creditor provides the employer with a copy of the pamphlet with the earnings withholding order. See Section 723.107.

Subdivision (b) authorizes, but does not require, the State Administrator to recover the cost of printing informational pamphlets and withholding tables from persons required or desiring to obtain such materials.

Article 6. Administration and Enforcement

§ 723.150. State Administrator

Comment. The State Administrator is the Director of Industrial Relations. See Section 723.011 (defining "State Administrator") and the Comment to that section.

§ 723.151. Rules and regulations

Comment. Section 723.151 requires that rules and regulations be adopted, amended, and repealed in accord with the Administrative Procedure Act. Such rules include specific requirements regarding the treatment of various forms of "back pay." See subdivision (b).

§ 723.152. Liaison with federal administrator

Comment. Section 723.152 authorizes the State Administrator to do whatever is required by the federal administrator to obtain and maintain a state exemption from the earnings garnishment provisions of the Consumer Credit Protection Act. A similarly broad grant of power as that contained in the first paragraph of Section 723.152 is found in Government Code Section 25210 (county participation in Economic Opportunity Act of 1964). Subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) are based on the language of 29 Code of Federal Regulations Section 870-55(a), requiring the State Administrator to act as liaison with the federal administrator.

§ 723.153. Enforcement of orders

Comment. Section 723.153 makes clear the power of the court to compel obedience to its orders. See Sections 128 and 1209(5). See generally Part 3, Title 5 (Sections 1209-1222).

§ 723.154. Fraudulent withholding by employer

Comment. Section 723.154 is based on Labor Code Section 227 (failure to make agreed payments to health, welfare, or similar fund).

§ 723.155. Employer not to defer or accelerate payment of earnings

Comment. Section 723.155 simply makes clear that an employer may neither defer nor accelerate payment of earnings to an employee in an attempt to avoid compliance with an earnings withholding order.

Comment. Section 723.156 authorizes suit by a creditor against an employer both where the employer fails to withhold properly and where he fails to pay over amounts withheld. This remedy is independent of the procedure provided in Chapter 2 (Sections 717-723) of this part, and Section 723.156 makes clear that supplemental proceedings under Chapter 2 are not a prerequisite to suit by the creditor against the employer. Whether or not the court can order the employer to withhold and pay over in a Chapter 2 proceeding is a matter not dealt with in the Employees' Earnings Protection Law.

Of course, in addition to the remedy Section 723.156 provides to the judgment creditor, the court has the power to compel obedience to its orders through exercise of the contempt power. See Section 723.153 and Comment thereto.

Subdivision (b), however, makes clear that an employer is protected from liability where he complies with an order or written notice which appears proper on its face. Occasionally, through mistake, inadvertence, or even deliberate misconduct, an employer may be sent an order or notice which appears valid but which has been improperly obtained or served. For example, a creditor may violate the 10-day moratorium on service of a second earnings withholding order. See Section 723.109 and Comment thereto. The employer is not required in such circumstances to go beyond the document itself and is not subject to liability where he complies with its directions and is not actively participating in a fraud. The remedy of the injured party in such a case is to proceed against the person who sent the improperly obtained or falsified document.

This section also makes clear that, where an employer is complying with a prior order, he is not liable for failing to comply with a subsequent valid order--even though the prior order is in fact invalid--unless he is actively participating in a fraud.

§ 723.157. Fees of clerk

Financial Code

§ 15406 (repealed)

Comment. Section 15406 is superseded by the provisions of Sections 690.7 and 690.7 1/2 of the Code of Civil Procedure. See Section 690.7 and Comment thereto.

Labor Code

§ 300 (amended). Wage assignments

Comment. Section 300 is amended to make the section consistent with the Employees' Earnings Protection Law (Code Civ. Proc. § 723.010 et seq.).

Subdivision (a). Subdivision (a) simply makes clear that the shortened phrase "assignment of wages" continues prior law as to the kind of instrument dealt with in this section.

Subdivision (b). Paragraphs (1) through (6) of subdivision (b) continue generally without substantive change provisions formerly contained in Section 300. A sentence has been added to paragraph (2) to provide a limited exception from the requirement of spousal consent. Paragraph (7) continues without substantive change a provision formerly contained in Section 300 except that the former reference to the attachment or levy on execution against wages or salary is replaced by a reference to an earnings withholding order to conform to the procedure provided by the Employees' Earnings Protection Law, and the former reference to priority of wage assignments has been superseded by paragraph (7) and subdivision (c).

Subdivision (c). Subdivision (c) clarifies the relationship between a valid prior wage assignment and a subsequently served earnings withholding order. Where a wage assignment is in effect and an earnings withholding order is served, the employer shall not withhold pursuant to the order until after the end of the pay period during which the order was served. Thus, the wage assignment is, in effect, given an exclusive preference for that pay period and the debtor is given an opportunity to put his affairs in order. Such action may include revoking the wage assignment as to unearned wages pursuant to subdivision (f). Even where the debtor revokes the wage assignment prior to the end of the pay period (but after receipt of an earnings withholding order), the operation of the order is suspended until after the current pay period. Hence, the debtor is afforded an opportunity to retain his unearned wages for the current pay period only. After such moratorium, the earnings withholding order has a priority over the assignment if the latter remains in effect. The unlimited preference formerly given to an assignment of unearned wages or salary is not continued because this preference would permit a judgment debtor to give preference to one creditor and to defeat the claims of other creditors who seek to collect on their judgments under the Employees' Earnings Protection Law.

Subdivision (d). See the Comment to subdivision (f).

Subdivision (e). Subdivision (e) continues the substance of a provision formerly found in Section 300 and extends the scope of the former provision to cover the statement provided for in paragraph (2) of subdivision (b).

Subdivision (f). The first sentence of subdivision (f), which makes an assignment of unearned wages or salary revocable at any time by the maker thereof, replaces the former provision of Section 300 which invalidated an assignment of wages or salary unless such wages were earned or the assignment was for necessities or for support. The former provision also restricted the amount of unearned wages or salary that could be assigned. The former 50-percent limitation on the amount of wages or salary that can be assigned has been continued in subdivision (d). The former 25-percent "hardship" limitation has not been continued because subdivision (f) permits the person making the assignment of wages or salary to be earned to revoke the assignment at any time. Thus, where an assignment becomes too onerous, especially after service of an earnings withholding order, the assignment may be revoked. The delayed preference given the earnings withholding order under subdivision (c) will generally require persons having judgments, including support orders, to use the procedure provided in the Employees' Earnings Protection Law--rather than Section 300--to enforce their judgments; but it avoids conflict between wage assignments and orders issued pursuant to the Employees' Earnings Protection Law.

Subdivisions (g) and (h). Subdivisions (g) and (h) continue without substantive change provisions formerly contained in Section 300. Other statutes may authorize deductions from employees' wages or salary without compliance with this section. E.g., Govt. Code §§ 1158, 12420, 13922, 20135. It should be noted that the inapplicability of Section 300 to the deductions referred to in subdivision (h) means not only that compliance with the and limitations formalities provided in Section 300 is not required but also that Section 300 provides no special preferences for such deductions.

Comment. Subdivision (d) is added to Section 2929 to prohibit discharge of an employee because his wages have been subjected to garnishment pursuant to an order for support. This subdivision also makes clear that such a garnishment, even though made pursuant to a judgment, is not to be considered under subdivision (c).

Welfare and Institutions Code

Comment. Section 11489 has been amended to conform to changes made by Chapter 2.5 (commencing with Section 723.010) of the Code of Civil Procedure. Compare Civil Code Section 4701. See also Section 723.030 of the Code of Civil Procedure and the Comment to that section.

Operative Date

Comment. The operative date of this act is delayed until July 1, 1973, to allow sufficient time for state and local public officials and the public to become familiar with the new law and to develop the necessary forms and procedures.
