December 13, 2013

To: The Honorable Edmund G. Brown, Jr.
   Governor of California, and
   The Legislature of California

In June 2009, the Commission completed a recommendation on Nonsubstantive Reorganization of Deadly Weapon Statutes. The Legislature implemented the recommendation through its enactment of Chapters 178 and 711 of the Statutes of 2010. This legislation became operative on January 1, 2012.

Throughout its deadly weapons study, the Commission took extreme care to avoid making any substantive change. In the course of the study, the Commission identified a number of minor problems that could not be addressed without potentially causing concern about the possibility of such a change. These clean-up issues were not addressed in the June 2009 recommendation, but were instead identified and set aside for future work.

This recommendation proposes amendments to address a handful of the minor clean-up issues. Specifically, the revisions contained in this recommendation address:

1. Expansion of the scope of certain definitions to cover the entirety of Part 6 of the Penal Code.
2. Standardizing references to certain organizations and persons.
This recommendation also includes two other minor technical revisions that were previously approved by the Legislature, but did not take effect for process reasons.

This recommendation was prepared pursuant to Section 7 of Chapter 711 of the Statutes of 2010 and Government Code Section 8298.

Respectfully submitted,

Damian Capozzola
Chairperson
DEADLY WEAPONS: MINOR CLEAN-UP ISSUES

In 2006, the Legislature directed the Law Revision Commission to conduct a study and recommend nonsubstantive changes to the statutes relating to control of deadly weapons to simplify and provide better organization to this area of law.\(^1\) The Commission was expressly directed not to make any change that would affect the existing scope of criminal liability.\(^2\)

In June 2009, the Commission submitted its recommendation on Nonsubstantive Reorganization of Deadly Weapons Statutes ("Deadly Weapons Recommendation")\(^3\) to the Legislature. In 2010, the recommendation was enacted, reorganizing the deadly weapons statutes into a new Part 6 of the Penal Code,\(^4\) structuring the provisions in a more user-friendly form and making conforming revisions to the law.\(^5\)

Throughout its deadly weapons study, the Commission took an extremely cautious approach, to avoid making any substantive change. During the course of the study, the Commission found a number of minor issues that could not be addressed without potentially causing concern about the possibility of such a change. Consistent with the Commission’s limited mandate, the Commission did not address any of these minor issues in its Deadly Weapons Recommendation.

Instead, these minor issues were listed in Appendix B of the Deadly Weapons Recommendation and set aside for possible future work. In the Deadly Weapons Recommendation, the Commission requested authority to study these clean-up issues.

The Legislature granted the Commission authority to study and make recommendations on the issues identified in Appendix B.⁶ Pursuant to that authority, the Law Revision Commission now recommends minor clean-up amendments to address some of the issues identified in Appendix B of the Deadly Weapons Recommendation. This recommendation also proposes two other minor technical revisions that were not included in Appendix B. These minor revisions are proposed pursuant to the Commission’s authority in Government Code Section 8298.

DEFINITIONS WITH LIMITED APPLICATION

Part 6 contains a number of statutory definitions that have expressly limited application. These definitions only govern specified provisions. For example, Section 16540 defines the term “firearm safety device,” but only for uses of that term in Section 25135 and Division 2 (commencing with Section 23620) of Title 4 of Part 6.⁷

Part 6 also contains a number of sections that use a defined term but are not within the provisions governed by the statutory definition. For example, Section 26850 uses the term “firearm safety device,” but this section is not governed by the definition of that term provided in Section 16540.

Undefined usage of defined terms can cause confusion. When a definition does not govern all uses of the defined term, it is unclear whether the term was intended to have a different meaning in provisions that are not governed by the definition. It is also possible that the failure to expand a definition’s application to cover a particular provision using the term was inadvertent.

⁶. 2010 Cal. Stat. ch. 711, § 7 (SB 1080 (Committee on Public Safety)).
⁷. The text set out here and throughout the recommendation reflects the changes to Penal Code provisions made in 2013. See 2013 Cal. Stat. ch. 737, § 3 (AB 500 (Ammiano)) (making definition of “firearm safety device” applicable to Section 25135).
In order to address that confusion, the Commission examined the undefined uses of the following defined terms: “application to purchase,” “firearm safety device,” “locked container,” “short-barreled rifle,” and “short-barreled shotgun.” In each case, the Commission found that in every provision of Part 6 that is not governed by the definitions, the terms were nonetheless used in the defined sense.

Because the defined meanings are consistent with every undefined use of the terms, the Commission recommends that the definitions be generalized to govern the entirety of Part 6. This would eliminate any confusion as to the meaning of the terms in sections that are not governed by the definitions. It would also simplify future development of the law, by providing a default definition that would govern any new provision added to Part 6.

The Commission’s specific findings are summarized below.

“Application to Purchase”

Section 16190 defines “application to purchase.”

The Commission reviewed the undefined uses of this term in Part 6. Each of those sections relates to the process by which a prospective firearm recipient provides initial information to a firearms dealer, who then transmits the information to the Department of Justice. Further, each of these sections involves timing rules specifying when the dealer must transmit information to the Department of Justice. The sections appear to be part of an integrated process governing firearm transfers.

8. As defined, the “application to purchase” covers a procedural step in a firearm transaction wherein the purchaser, transferee, or person being loaned a firearm provides certain information to a firearm dealer. Section 16190 provides the only definition of “application to purchase” in the Penal Code.

9. Sections 26955, 26960, 26965, 27655, 27660, 27665, 28210, 28215, and 28255.

10. For example, Section 26955(b) states: “Within two business days of completion of the application to purchase, the dealer shall forward by prepaid mail to the Department of Justice a report of the application as is indicated in Section 28160 or 28165, as applicable.”
There is nothing that would indicate an alternative meaning of “application to purchase” for these sections. Rather, these sections and the sections covered by the definition all seem to be using the term “application to purchase” in the same way, referring to the initial information exchange required to acquire a firearm.

All of the undefined uses of the term “application to purchase” appear to be using the term with the meaning provided in the statutory definition. Therefore, the Commission recommends that the definition be generalized to cover the whole of Part 6 of the Penal Code.

“Firearm Safety Device”

Section 16540 defines “firearm safety device.”

The Commission reviewed the undefined uses of this term in Part 6. As discussed below, all of the undefined uses of the term “firearm safety device” appear to be using the term with the meaning provided in the statutory definition. Therefore, the Commission recommends that the definition be generalized to cover the whole of Part 6 of the Penal Code.

Safe Handling Demonstration

Four of the sections that use the term “firearm safety device” without definition relate to the safe handling demonstration that a person must perform before a firearms dealer may deliver a handgun to the person. As part of the safe handling demonstration, the recipient must perform specified operations

---

11. As defined, a “firearm safety device” is a device, aside from a gun safe, that locks and is designed to prevent unauthorized users from firing a firearm. Section 16540 provides the only definition of “firearm safety device” in the Penal Code.
12. Sections 26850, 26853, 26856, 26859, and 26915.
13. Sections 26850, 26853, 26856, and 26859.
14. Section 26850(a).
involving the “firearm safety device” that is “required to be delivered” with the handgun.\textsuperscript{15}

The Penal Code has only one provision, Section 23635, that requires a firearms dealer to provide a firearm safety device to the recipient of a handgun.\textsuperscript{16} Therefore, it seems clear that the device referenced in the safe handling demonstration provisions is the same “firearm safety device” referenced in Section 23635. The definition of “firearm safety device” applies to Section 23635. Consequently, this definition should also apply to the safe handling demonstration provisions that refer to the same device.

\textit{Secured Firearm}

Section 26915 provides that a firearm is “secure” if it is “inoperable because it is secured by a firearm safety device listed on the department’s roster of approved firearm safety devices pursuant to subdivision (d) of Section 23655.”

Section 23655 is governed by the definition of “firearm safety device” in Section 16540. It is therefore clear that Section 26915 is using the term with its defined meaning.

\textsuperscript{15.} Section 26850(b). The general procedure provided in Section 26850(b) incorporates certain weapon-specific procedures by reference. Those special procedures are detailed in Sections 26853, 26856, and 26859. One of those weapon-specific provisions uses slightly different language than the main procedural provision, referring to the “firearm safety device required to be \textit{sold} with the handgun.” Section 26859(c) (emphasis added). The Commission does not believe that difference to be material. Sections 26850(b) and 26859 both appear to be referring to the firearm safety device that must be provided to a recipient by a firearm dealer.

\textsuperscript{16.} Section 23635 uses slightly different language from that used in Sections 26850 and 26859. Sections 26850 and 26859 speak of a firearm safety device being “delivered” or “sold” to the recipient. \textit{See supra} note 15. Section 23635 states that the firearm safety device must “accompany” a handgun that is sold or transferred by a firearms dealer to a recipient. The Commission does not believe those terminological differences to be material. In each case, the provisions appear to be referring to a firearm safety device that a firearms dealer must provide to a recipient.
“Locked Container”

Section 16850 defines “locked container.” Several provisions that are governed by the definition require that handguns be transported in “locked containers.”

The Commission reviewed the undefined uses of this term in Part 6. As discussed below, all of the undefined uses of the term “locked container” appear to be using the term with the meaning provided in the statutory definition. Therefore, the Commission recommends that the definition be generalized to cover the whole of Part 6 of the Penal Code.

Firearm Delivery Requirements

Sections 26815 and 27540 require that firearms dealers deliver a firearm unloaded and either “securely wrapped” or in a “locked container.” Logically, it seems that the locked container required

17. As defined, “locked container” means:

A secure container that is fully enclosed and locked by a padlock, keylock, combination lock, or similar locking device. The term “locked container” does not include the utility or glove compartment of a motor vehicle.

Section 16850 provides the only definition of “locked container” in the Penal Code.

18. See, e.g., Sections 25505 and 25515. Generally, an individual is prohibited from carrying a concealed handgun in any vehicle under the individual’s control. Section 25400. Sections 25505 and 25515 provide exceptions to that general prohibition.

19. Sections 26815, 27540, and 27560. In addition, Section 26835 includes the term “locked container” in form language for warnings that licensed gun dealers are required to post within their premises. However, as form language, this section describes existing law and does not proscribe rules for “locked containers.”

20. Section 26815 identifies grounds for forfeiture of a dealer’s license relating to the delivery of a firearm. Subdivision (b) prohibits dealers from delivering firearms “unless unloaded and securely wrapped or unloaded and in a locked container.” Section 27540 defines crimes relating to the sale, lease, or transfer of firearms. Subdivision (b) similarly prohibits dealers from delivering firearms “unless unloaded and securely wrapped or unloaded and in a locked container.”
in these sections would be the same “locked container” that must be used by the recipient of a handgun when transporting that handgun. As noted above, the provisions requiring a locked container for handgun transportation are governed by the statutory definition of “locked container.” Thus, it appears that Sections 26815 and 27540 are also using the term with its defined meaning.

Public Education Program for Personal Firearms Importers
Section 27560 describes the required content of a Department of Justice public education program for personal firearms importers. Among other things, the program must communicate that a “handgun should be transported unloaded and in a locked container…” It seems clear that this is a reference to the substantive provisions requiring that handguns be transported in a “locked container.” Because those transportation provisions are governed by the definition of “locked container,” Section 27560 would also seem to be using the term with its defined meaning.

“Short-Barreled Rifle” and “Short-Barreled Shotgun”
The term “short-barreled rifle” is defined in Section 17170.21

21. Section 17170 provides:

“[S]hort-barreled rifle” means any of the following:
(a) A rifle having a barrel or barrels of less than 16 inches in length.
(b) A rifle with an overall length of less than 26 inches.
(c) Any weapon made from a rifle (whether by alteration, modification, or otherwise) if that weapon, as modified, has an overall length of less than 26 inches or a barrel or barrels of less than 16 inches in length.
(d) Any device that may be readily restored to fire a fixed cartridge which, when so restored, is a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive.
(e) Any part, or combination of parts, designed and intended to convert a device into a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive, or any combination of parts from which a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive, may be readily assembled if those parts are in the possession or under the control of the same person.

Section 17170 provides the only definition for short-barreled rifle in the Penal Code.
The term “short-barreled shotgun” is defined in Section 17180.22 Both terms are analyzed together, because every section that uses the terms uses both of them in tandem, to regulate both classes of weapons in the same way.

The Commission reviewed the undefined uses of these terms in Part 6.23 As discussed below, all of the undefined uses appear to be using these terms with the meanings provided in the statutory definitions. Therefore, the Commission recommends that the definitions be generalized to cover the whole of Part 6 of the Penal Code.

Restrictions and Exceptions Applicable to Short-Barreled Rifles and Short-Barreled Shotguns

The Deadly Weapon Recommendation located most of the provisions that govern short-barreled rifles and shotguns in a single chapter, entitled “Short-Barreled Rifle or Short-Barreled

22. Section 17180 provides:

“[S]hort-barreled shotgun” means any of the following:

(a) A firearm that is designed or redesigned to fire a fixed shotgun shell and has a barrel or barrels of less than 18 inches in length.

(b) A firearm that has an overall length of less than 26 inches and that is designed or redesigned to fire a fixed shotgun shell.

(c) Any weapon made from a shotgun (whether by alteration, modification, or otherwise) if that weapon, as modified, has an overall length of less than 26 inches or a barrel or barrels of less than 18 inches in length.

(d) Any device that may be readily restored to fire a fixed shotgun shell which, when so restored, is a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive.

(e) Any part, or combination of parts, designed and intended to convert a device into a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive, or any combination of parts from which a device defined in subdivisions (a) to (c), inclusive, can be readily assembled if those parts are in the possession or under the control of the same person.

Section 17180 provides the only definition for short-barreled shotgun in the Penal Code.

23. Sections 16590, 18010, 27140, 27740, 27940, 33300, 33305, 33310, 33315, and 33320.
Shotgun.” Article 1 of the chapter is governed by the definitions of “short-barreled rifle” and “short-barreled shotgun,” while Article 2 is not.

Article 1 establishes restrictions on short-barreled rifles and short-barreled shotguns, subject to specified exceptions. Article 2 provides rules for permits to manufacture, possess, import, transport, or sell the weapons consistent with the limited exceptions established in Article 1.

Because the provisions of Article 1 and Article 2 are part of an interconnected scheme of restrictions, exemptions, and permits to allow those exempted uses, it seems clear that both articles are referring to the same weapons. Otherwise, the scope of the Article 2 permit authority would not be consistent with the uses of the weapons authorized by Article 1. As Article 1 is governed by the definitions, it seems clear that Article 2 is also using the terms with their defined meanings.

Sections Referring to Provisions that are Governed by the Definition

A few sections refer to “short-barreled rifle” and “short-barreled shotgun,” but do so by express reference to a provision that is governed by the definitions. For example, Section 18010(a) provides:

> The Attorney General, district attorney, or city attorney may bring an action to enjoin the manufacture of, importation of, keeping for sale of, offering or exposing for sale, giving, lending, or possession of, any item that constitutes a nuisance under any of the following provisions:

> (22) Section 33290, relating to a short-barreled rifle or a short-barreled shotgun.

24. Chapter 8 (commencing with Section 33210) of Division 10 of Title 4 of Part 6.

25. Sections 16590, 18010, 27140, 27740, and 27940.
It is clear that such sections are using the terms with the meanings applicable to the referenced provisions (i.e., the defined meanings).

STANDARDIZING REFERENCES TO CERTAIN ORGANIZATIONS AND PERSONS

Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives

In the Homeland Security Act of 2002, the “Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms” was reorganized.\(^{26}\) Some of its functions were transferred to the newly created “Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives” in the Department of Justice; other functions were assigned to the newly created Tax and Trade Bureau in the Department of the Treasury.\(^{27}\) In 2011, many provisions in the California codes were amended to reflect the reorganization.\(^{28}\) One reference to the Bureau has not yet been updated.\(^{29}\) The Commission recommends that this reference be amended to reflect the reorganization of the Bureau.

In many of the Penal Code provisions that reference the Bureau, the agency is referred to as the “federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives.”\(^{30}\) Currently, three provisions do not follow this drafting convention.\(^{31}\) The Commission recommends they be amended to do so.

“Facility’s Manager” for a Gun Show or Event

Section 27210 requires the preparation of an annual event and security plan and schedule for gun shows and events. This section specifies what information must be included in the plan, who must be provided with the plan, when changes to the plan must be submitted, and the need for approval of that plan by the facility’s manager.

In setting forth these requirements, Section 27210 refers to a “facility manager,” “facilities manager,” and “facility’s manager.” These terms appear to be used interchangeably to refer to the same person, without any intention that they have different meanings. The Commission recommends that the terminology be standardized.

OTHER TECHNICAL REVISIONS
PREVIOUSLY APPROVED BY THE LEGISLATURE

The following minor changes were previously approved by the Legislature, but did not take effect for process reasons unrelated to their merits.

Clarifying Revisions
In 2011, the Commission recommended revising Penal Code Section 11106 to improve its clarity and readability. Legislation to implement the Commission’s recommendation was enacted into law, but the changes to Section 11106 were chaptered out and did not take effect. The proposed law includes revisions equivalent to those recommended in 2011.

Cross-Reference Correction
Penal Code Section 17190 contains an erroneous cross-reference to material that was repealed. In 2013, an amendment to correct the error was included in Senate Bill 567 (Jackson). That bill was approved by the Legislature but was vetoed for reasons unrelated

32. Section 27210 uses the term “facility’s manager” four times and uses each of the terms “facility manager” and “facilities manager” once.

33. See 2011 Cal. Stat. ch. 285, § 23 (AB 1402 (Committee on Public Safety)), which was chaptered out by 2011 Cal. Stat. ch. 745, § 2 (AB 809 (Feuer)); see also 2011 Cal. Stat. ch. 745, § 2.5 (AB 809 (Feuer)).
